Youth Tentatively Identified as Roman Wujcinski Almost Cut in Two When He Falls Under Cars Trying to Get Off Freight.

NEW YORK MAN

Police Find Address in Clothing But Cannot Locate Any Relatives of the Victim.

A young man apparently about 25 years old, tentatively identified as Roman Wujcinski, of 244 East 40th street, New York city, was instantly killed Wednesday evening about 9:50 o'clock when apparently he fell beneath the wheels of a freight train in the north yard near what is known as the Orchard crossing. The young man had been riding the freight and apparently when the train slowed down for a stop he attempted to leave the gondola car in which he had been riding, slipped on the step and fell beneath the car trucks. His body was practically cut in two at the waist.

The accident happened near the car shops in the North yard and the body was discovered by a member of the train crew perhaps an hour later as the train was making up to proceed on its way north after cutting out cars here. From the investigation which was made by Coroner Leston DuBois, together with Sergeant Charles Thiel of the railroad police, Troopers Reilly and Elliot and Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg and McCullough, the young man fell beneath the cars about fifty paces from the Orchard crossing and the body was dragged 22½ feet toward the crossing. When discovered the head lay outside the tracks and the lower portion, practically severed, lay between the rails.

In reconstructing the accident the officers determined that the young man had attempted to leave the car when the train slowed down to stop. In his hand was a laundry bag containing a pair of new overalls, gloves, a shirt and other clothing articles and a shaving kit. Apparently with this in his hand he attempted to alight from the train and slipped on the car step and fell between the cars. Several of the trucks must have passed over his body.

As the train approached the Flatbush avenue crossing on its way north, Sergeant Thiel, who was on duty, saw the man in the gondola car, which was loaded with steel, and he shouted for the man to get off. Other employees said they also saw the man on the car as it passed. The car was near the center of the train.

It was about 9:50 when the train pulled in and went over to a siding and it is presumed the young man left the train as it slowed down.

Discovers Body.
It was 10:50 when the train was made up and ready to proceed on its way north. Brakeman John Warneck, of 1150 Boulevard East, West New York, started up ahead toward the engine and came across the portion of the body which lay outside the rails. He was the first to discover the body and notified the conductor and other members of the train crew.

Railroad police, state troopers and the sheriff were notified and Coroner Leston DuBois of New Paltz was called. Mr. DuBois, who was preparing to go to bed, came to the city and in record time was at the scene.

The train was in charge of Conductor J. W. Bruning of 265 Warren avenue, Palisades, N. Y., and the engineer was A. J. Jobson of Union City, N. J., with Louis Leibert of 1401 Boulevard East, West New York, N. J., as fireman. J. W. Regan of North Bergen, N. J., was also brakeman on the train. The train was known as W.V.1 drawn by engine 1238.

After an investigation had been made by the coroner the body was removed to the W. N. Conner morgue and attempts were made to get in touch with relatives through the New York city police. At a late hour this morning no contact had been made with relatives.

In the clothing of the dead man were two cards, one bearing the name of Roman Wujcinski with the 40th street address, and another card bearing the typewritten name of Robert West. The photograph was not identified as that of the dead man until it was taken a considerable time ago, as the resemblance was slight. There was also the address of Robert H. Donnelly Corporation, 207 East 45th street, on a card and this apparently was the man's true name.

In a wallet which the dead man carried was $4.50 and two receipts from the Hotel No. 2 in New York city indicating that he had stayed two nights at the hotel. There was a check for $10.00 payable to the New York city police.

There was also New York city identification and both the library slip and the hotel receipts were made out to Roman Wujcinski, indicating that this was his true name. Efforts were being continued to-day to locate some relative through the New York city police. Pending notification from relatives the body was held in the Coroner's morgue awaiting identification.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—George Henry Dern, secretary of war in the Roosevelt cabinet, died in Walter Reed Hospital here today from heart and other complications resulting from past influenza attacks. He was 64 years old.

He died at 10:55 a. m., eastern standard time. Dr. Fritz Meyer, noted German heart specialist called here from Boston at the direction of President Roosevelt, was in consultation with army doctors just before the war secretary died.

During the night, it was disclosed, Dern had been placed under an oxygen tent in an effort to prolong his life.

Dern's death, friends said, followed a general physical breakdown originating in a severe attack of influenza when he was governor of Utah five years ago, and from which he never fully recovered.

Since then he has suffered from recurrent influenza attacks and severe colds which gradually weakened him and placed an extremely heavy strain on his heart.

Dern—twice governor of Utah before rising to the cabinet—entered Walter Reed, the big army hospital here on July 13 for "rest, treatment and a physical check" after he became ill during an inspection of army engineer projects on the Delaware river in Pennsylvania.

In April he spent six weeks in the hospital after contracting influenza on a similar inspection trip down the Atlantic intra-coastal waterway. He was brought back to the capital by plane.

President Roosevelt and high ranking army officers were cognizant of the seriousness of Secretary Dern's condition for nearly a year. Although no announcement was made it was learned immediately after Dern entered the hospital the last time that doctors entertained little hope for his recovery.

"No Militarist"

George Henry Dern, who left the governor's chair in Utah to become secretary of war, brought to the Roosevelt cabinet an advocacy of preparedness for national defense although he declared himself "no militarist."

By backing up General Douglas MacArthur and Malin Craig, his successive chiefs of staff, in their plans to reorganize, expand and modernize the army, Dern proposed to build the army into a small, but first-class fighting force.

Although the American army ranks approximately seventeen in manpower—along with Portugal—it is now well on its way toward a five-year program objective which will give it new and faster airplanes, more tanks and armored cars, semi-automatic rifles for the infantry, modernized artillery, and other up to date implements of war.

During Dern's administration also the War Department extended its food control program, started construction of the Bonneville dam on the Columbia river and the Fort Peck (Mont.) reservoir project, and supervised the organization and administration of CCC camps.

Dern began his duties as secretary—like most civilian appointees to that position—with little knowledge of the War Department and its wide variety of military and non-military activities. He immediately started a series of inspection trips to army posts and projects by plane, train, motor car and boat.

Advocating an army of 165,000 men—which was finally achieved—instead of the "microscopic" force organized to protect the nation, Dern asserted that the army had been "starved" for 12 years.

When allegations were made of lobbying in the War Department in the interests of clients for sales or purchases of surplus goods Dern issued orders for a thorough investigation. Information secured in the investigation by the inspector general was turned over to the justice department for action. The court-martialed and dismissal of two high-ranking army officers resulted from the investigation.

When a congressional committee demanded the ousting of Major General Benjamin Foulois, the army's first flyer, as chief of air corps because of his alleged violation of the law governing plane purchases, Dern declined to act until the accused general had been given a "fair trial."

Foulois, considering himself vindicated by the ensuing investigation and "trial," eventually voluntarily retired.

Criticism of Army Air Corps flying of aircraft during an emergency caused by cancellation of private company contracts led Dern to name a committee of aeronautical authorities, which was asked to recommend a course of action. From that committee came the Baker report with recommendations—which were followed by Dern—and a program for increasing the strength and efficiency of the air corps.

In November, 1925, President Roosevelt named Dern as his official representative at the inauguration of the new commonwealth government of the Philippines. Enroute to Manila, he visited Hawaii, Japan, China, and Guam.

Meeting Near and Inevitable.
Before coming to Washington as member of the Roosevelt cabinet Dern had prospered as a mining man and inventor of mine apparatus. He was the second Democrat and

Socialist "Iron Chancellor" Bitterly Declares Spain Is "The Ethiopia Of Europe"

Economy of West Must Be Changed To Prevent Drouth

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Aboard Roosevelt train enroute to Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt came to drouth-damaged North Dakota today for conferences with federal and state officials and his own drouth committee, which he hoped would point the way to the shift in the northwest's economy he feels is essential to bulwark this region against future calamities of nature.

In denying at the start of the current dry spell that his administration would seek to depopulate areas hardest hit by recurring drouth, the President said the whole economy of this region must be changed, but with present populations kept where they are to carry on under the transformation.

Presidential aides recalled this pronouncement today as his special train carried him to Bismarck for conferences with Acting Governor Walter Welford of North Dakota, Acting Governor Elmer E. Holt of Montana and senators and federal officials from those states.

Secretary Wallace, accompanying the President, agreed with him in at least one respect—that much of the land turned into crop-damaging dust in recent weeks would be better adapted to pasture and feed crops for cattle raising.

In a press conference aboard the train, the cabinet officer said some of the land in the nine states visited by the Great Plains drouth committee should never have been plowed.

Wallace hoped to impress upon the presidential conferees the advisability of pressing a three-way plan of attack:

1.—Crop insurance, a federal-state cooperative venture favored by the National Grange.

2.—The ever-normal granary, which tied in with crop insurance. In good crop years farmers would deposit grains in an insurance fund. In bad years the farmers would dip into the fund to keep supplies at normal.

3.—Soil conservation. Wallace predicted retail food costs, after the full effect of the drouth had been felt, would be only slightly higher than other living costs, using 1928-1929 as a base. He added there would be no scarcity of food.

He said the idea that individual ponds on every farm might provide a new source of rain through evaporation in hot periods, had been termed fallacious by the Weather Bureau, but that such ponds as are now being constructed by WPA workers had other values, such as refuges for migratory water fowl.

The President's train was due in the North Dakota capital about noon, and the North Dakota and Montana conferees was the first presidential conference since August 1931, a German vessel landed arranged to receive the report of the drouth committee, based on the observations during a ten-day swing through the arid areas.

(Editor's note: The following interview with Indalecio Prieto, strong man behind the Spanish Socialist government, was delayed 11 hours by censor.)

By JAMES C. OLDFIELD
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Madrid, Aug. 27—Spain is the "Ethiopia of Europe" deserted by those nations whose vital interests should compel them to be her active allies, Indalecio Prieto, Socialist "Iron Chancellor," declared today.

Prieto, former minister of public works, spoke these bitter words in the early hours of this morning at his apartment in the well-defended, sandbagged ministry of marine.

The stock market leader made plain his disappointment with the manner in which the world's democratic countries have reacted to Madrid's defense against Fascist rebellion.

"What help has France and Great Britain given us in our direct hour?" he asked. "None at all, while Germany, Italy and Portugal are providing our rebel enemies with all the material they want."

Prieto, who holds no official position, but who, as leader of the parliamentary Socialist party is the most important man behind the government, added:

"The diplomats of Europe are very busy over their plan for a convention of neutrality and non-intervention."

"But what good is such a convention to us? None at all!" Bitterly he went on.

"It will in fact damage our cause. Obviously France and Great Britain will sign it and keep their word while Germany, Italy and Portugal will sign it and go on helping the rebels as before."

"I cannot understand why France and Great Britain can be so blind to their own interests."

"The establishment of a Fascist regime in the west end of Europe is not a contingency they can envisage with pleasure."

"And what will they say if France (Gen. Francisco Franco, the rebel commander-in-chief) signs and relieves the Balcarr Islands to Italy or Germany as a reward for their aid?"

"Last year," he said, "our then highest minister of state, Martinez de Velasco, negotiated a new trade treaty with France and the French insisted on inclusion of a clause which compelled us to buy a certain quantity of war materials from them each year."

"French Come Back on Word"

"Martinez de Velasco signed they gave him a banquet for it. The French, with a popular front government like ours, now have gone and broken their word and have refused to even let us have the war materials which the treaty stipulates we must buy."

Prieto paused and turned at his open shirt collar.

"Let us take the other side," he said.

"Ten days before the Kammerun incident the search of a German merchantman by a Spanish war vessel was arranged. Then the chief executive August 1931 a German vessel landed arranged to receive the report of the drouth committee, based on the observations during a ten-day swing through the arid areas."

He Tells Buffalo Audience American Youth Faces a Heritage of Debts and Mortgages Through New Deal Expenditures.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Nominee Sweeps Through Illinois Today on a Schedule of 10 Rear Platform Appearances.

Aboard Landon train enroute to Topeka, Kas., Aug. 27 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon left behind him a charge of "wasteful" New Deal spending and "cockeyed" tax legislation as he swept through Illinois today on a schedule of 10 rear platform appearances and a visit to Abraham Lincoln's tomb.

The Republican nominee was speeding toward Topeka on the return leg of his first presidential campaign invasion of the east.

In the last of three addresses, he told a Buffalo, N. Y., audience that American youth faced "a heritage of debts and mortgages" through New Deal expenditures.

Landon demanded the immediate repeal of the law taxing corporations to amounts of income withheld from distribution. This legislation the Kansan described as "cockeyed." He said the entire tax structure, federal and state, needed overhauling.

"The sponsors of this tax law may have thought it was a smart way to appear to 'soak the rich,'" Landon said. "Actually it has no relation to 'soaking the rich.'"

What it does to protect the big fellow who still has a reserve, and the millstone around the neck of the little fellow.

"This is the most cockeyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed in a modern country, and if I am elected I shall recommend the immediate repeal of this vicious method of taxation."

After an overnight ride from the western New York metropolis the presidential aspirant returned to the rear platform of his special train to greet townfolk at Joliet, Dwight, Pontiac, Bloomington and Lincoln, Ill., before reaching Springfield for a 40-minute halt to place a wreath on Lincoln's tomb.

With a departure from Springfield at 12:10 p. m. (CST) three minute pauses were planned at Joliet, Carlinville, Alton and Granite City before the train crossed the Mississippi river on the westward swing through central Missouri. Appearances were listed for Washington, Jefferson City, Sedalia and Warrensburg, Mo.

"We are living in a fool's paradise—far beyond our income," Landon told his Buffalo audience.

The "Hidden Taxes."
Landon said that "Hidden Taxes," which he described as taxes on "such things as food, clothing, gasoline and cigarettes," now supply 51 cents of every dollar collected by the federal government as compared with 41 cents in 1932.

"In other words," he said, "the share of the cost of government falling mainly on those with incomes of $25 a week or less has increased 25 per cent during the three years of the present administration. They are paying far more than their rightful share of the cost of government."

The nominee set forth four principles of government finance—"The government must guard and preserve its source of income . . . must make sure it gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends . . . must not get in the habit of spending more than it receives . . . must prepare for the rainy day."

Landon was due to reach Topeka at 11:55 o'clock tonight.

The governor's next trip will be to Des Moines, Iowa, for a drouth conference September 1. President Roosevelt invited to it the governors of Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The text of the address delivered here Wednesday by Governor Landon follows:

Tonight I want to talk about the financial problems of our federal government and their effect upon us as individuals. In other words, I'm going to talk about our government as a spender of part of the money we work so hard to earn. This is a proper approach to the question, in my judgment, because the government has no money except the money it gets from us.

There are some people who believe that the government can create money. This is not true. All it can create are promises to pay money. This is what it does when it issues paper money or sells bonds. In principle this is similar to what we do when we open a charge account at a store. We get something now and promise to pay for it later. If we charge more things than we can pay for, our promises "p" pay become worthless. The same is true of government.

Debt-Cutting Opportunity.
So, if we are to be realistic in our thinking about government finance, we must think of the government as almost a member of our family—a member to whom, day by day, week by week, year by year, we are making promises to pay for.

So, if we are to be realistic in our thinking about government finance, we must think of the government as almost a member of our family—a member to whom, day by day, week by week, year by year, we are making promises to pay for.

The same is true of government.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

F. P. Clark Named New Hampshire Planning Chief

FREDERICK P. CLARK

The Concord Daily Monitor and New Hampshire Patriot prints the following concerning F. P. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clark, of 98 South Manor avenue, who graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1926:

Frederick P. Clark, consultant for the New England regional planning board under assignment from the National Resources board has been selected to become director of the planning division of the New Hampshire planning and development commission succeeding Capt. Charles F. Bowen, resigned. It was announced recently.

Announcement of the selection was reported officially to the governor and council at today's session.

Clark is a graduate of Cornell and had served in planning work for Fairfield county, Connecticut and as city planner for Camden, N. J., prior to his association with the National Resources board and consultant and executive for the New England regional board.

His service as chief executive at the New England office, it was pointed out, has given him a contact with all other New England states considered of great value to New Hampshire. He also has an intimate knowledge of all that has been done in the New England office and of projects either under way or contemplated, also of value to New Hampshire.

In making the selection the planning and development commission pointed out that it has sought and secured for New Hampshire the services of a qualified expert in this field of state activity.

Mr. Clark assumed his duties on August 1, the date of effect of Bowen's resignation.

Zulu Army Powerful

At the close of the Eighteenth century, the African king Tshaka organized his Zulu army after that of Europe's, regimented life so that every youth was a soldier for life, divided the girls of his people according to age and at an annual festival, granted permission to the warriors of a particular regiment to marry the girls of a particular class, all other marriages being strictly forbidden. That terrible Zulu army is said to have numbered 100,000 men, and was the scourge of Southeast Africa.

Eclipse Affects Animals

Observers in the wilds have recorded that during an eclipse the most savage animals crouched in terror in the deepest valleys or slunk away to hide in the jungle. During one eclipse, which lasted five hours in the middle of a clear tropical day, observers in the Philippines noted that acacia trees closed their leaves as at night, dew fell, chickens went to roost, and the natives knelt down in terrified supplication to their saints until the shadow passed from the sun.—Pearson's Weekly.

Musk, Powerful Odor

Among odors, the most powerful is supposed to be musk, but this is not always confirmed by scientific tests, probably because the different kinds of musk contain different chemical substances and may have odors of different intensity. The pure chemical which has the most powerful odor known is a synthetic substance called ionone, with a violet-like odor about a hundred times stronger than lemon.

"Telling the Mark"

"Telling the mark" may be just an expression that parents and teachers use merely as a caution to youngsters to obey, but in the pioneer days it really meant something. In the days when discipline was most rigid, the pupils, as a test of their close adherence to rules, were compelled to stand erect, during recitations, with their toes on a line drawn near the teacher's desk.

Flag-Tell

In Helsinki (Helsingfors), Finland, hotels display the national flag of every guest registered, so that a foreign visitor can tell in a glance whether a competitor is in town, says Agnes Rothery in her book on Finland. These flags are taken in at night, with the exception of Midsummer Night, when, since the sun does not set on them, they remain undisturbed thirty-six hours.

Innovation
Lockport, N. Y.—Mrs. Adelaide Gaskill hung some popcorn in her attic to dry.

It proved a novel fire alarm system. Mrs. Gaskill said the sound of popping corn awakened her and she discovered the attic blaze.

Neighbors and firemen from Gasport held the loss to $1,000.

Asbestos

Banff, Alta.—Pat Brewster's horse now bears the well-earned name—"Asbestos."

The horse, carrying fire-fighting equipment, was lost in dense smoke in a forest fire in Banff National Park.

Next day the fire-fighters found him lying on a damp patch of muskeg. About him everything was black, the pack had been burned off his back, and his halter rope still smoldered.

"Asbestos" suffered no harm except the loss of six inches of his tail in the blaze.

Who's There?

Cambridge, Mass.—Sergeant Charles P. Donelan investigated the complaint of a pedestrian who claimed to have been hit by an automobile. He questioned Paul Lazetter.

"Who owns the car?" Donelan asked.

"Ida," Lazetter replied.

"Ida who?"

"I describe her."

Later Donelan discovered Lazetter referred to an Ida Schrieber of Arlington.

Early Magazines Failed to Be Business Success

The first magazine in the United States was called the American Magazine, and was issued in Philadelphia, Feb. 13, 1741, by Andrew Bradford, printer, business rival of Benjamin Franklin. It was edited by John Webb.

It appears that the idea of starting a magazine in this country, on the lines of the famous Gentleman's Magazine of London, originated with Franklin. But he incautiously divulged his scheme to Webb, with the result that Bradford offered his publication to the colonies three days before Franklin's General Magazine was out. Neither publication lasted very long, however. Webb's expired with its second number and Franklin's with its sixth. The Saturday Evening Post, another Franklin publication, dates to 1728, but was not originally a magazine.

Down to the Revolution, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, sixteen magazines had been launched in America. They included such titles as the New England Magazine of Knowledge and Pleasure, begun in Boston in 1758; the American Magazine and Monthly Chronicle, started in Philadelphia in 1757. None survived more than a few years.

Charles Brockden Brown, the first American novelist, established in New York in 1799 the Monthly Magazine and Literary Journal, which lasted three years. And in 1801 there was launched in Philadelphia the Port Folio, which survived until 1837—a remarkable record among early periodicals. An excellent magazine of this time was the Anthology and Boston Review (Boston, 1803-1811), to which Everett Ticknor and John Quincy Adams were contributors.

Hanging Was Public Show

in Britain's Early Days
Hanging, believed to be the most merciful form of execution in Britain, was also one of the earliest, states a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

The first gallows was, of course, a tree. A rope was tossed over a branch, the noose put round the victim's neck and he was then hauled aloft to die of slow strangulation.

Later an upright beam was used with a ladder. The victim climbed the ladder and the hangman attached the rope to the beam. Then the hangman came down and kicked the ladder away, leaving the victim hanging.

Sometimes if the hangman thought the poor wretch had suffered enough and the spectators had had "their money's worth," he pulled on the victim's legs to hasten death.

It was in the seventeenth century, that the idea of killing quickly, as opposed to causing as much suffering as possible, came into favor.

Then followed the first "drop" or trap. This, though much improved, is used today and results in the neck being broken, causing instant death.

We're an easy-going people. A revolver has been invented that can shoot right through a man or an automobile engine and the criminals can buy it just like anybody else.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Suffering

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. C. Leitch's prescription—BEN BOLD—to relieve itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This natural medicine acts quickly even to old stubborn cases. It cures hemorrhoids because it helps to heal and repairs the affected parts and relieves the pressure in the lower bowel—the cause of pain. Only one natural medicine can do this, that's why others fail and cause even more pain. Write Dr. J. C. Leitch, 1111 Broadway, New York City, for your free copy of BEN BOLD.

Is a boom coming... IN REAL ESTATE?

Leading Economists Say, Yes—That it is already actively in the making.

Think, then, of the profits you may rightfully expect to make in the near future from investment in choice ocean frontage. Especially when the property is located near a growing, highly prosperous community on one of the finest stretches along the Atlantic Coast! And can be purchased, right at this time, at the lowest prices in over twenty years!

A NEW CITY IN THE MAKING

Hundreds of people have waited for this opportunity because they knew that the purchase of real estate in a growing seashore community is always a sound and profitable investment.

Remember Beach Hampton lots are part of improved property provided with hard-surfaced streets, water, electric light and telephone facilities.

Beach Hampton, Long Island, is in the very heart of a romantic and gorgeous setting mellowed and enriched by the alluring traditions of the beautiful Hamptons.

We sincerely believe that the investor in this real estate will never have another opportunity like this. And obviously it will soon be gone, for ocean frontage is already so scarce that in a few years more there will be none available.

When we tell you that a home at Beach Hampton, due to our exceptionally fortunate purchase of a large acreage, is still easily possible for the man of average means, you can see that here is located an investment that won't wait for you.

Lots at Beach Hampton are now selling for less than half their worth. Everything points to a marked rise in prices very shortly. Don't delay. Act now!

FEAR Saves Life!

Fear is one of man's most valuable instincts. It is an inner voice that says "Watch out! Take care!" and it has kept him from many dangers.

Fear has its place in modern life. The man who is afraid of what may happen to his family in the spring, prevents men. The man who is afraid of auto accidents is the man who keeps his car in good repair. The wise man in caution: the foolhardy man comes to grief.

Fear has its rightful place in advertising. Not in wild "water cups" that try to trick with-out cause, but in the purposeful instinct for self-protection and advice to keep children truly helpful both to readers and advertisers. The advertiser who sells insurance, brake service, medical preparations or child clothes has a delicate task and a big responsibility. To him we can offer the help and advice which will enable him to get results without abusing that responsibility.

Freeman Advertisement Brings Constable 7 Jobs

J. H. Constable of 60 Franklin street thought he couldn't lose very much by placing a small, inexpensive classified ad in the Freeman. He knew how to lay doors and how to sand them but there seemed to be a lot of people who didn't know he knew how to do this type of work.
Mr. Constable came into the Freeman this morning and renewed his ad because the one he ran a few days before brought him seven jobs. "Not bad," said Mr. Constable.

Injured When Cars Collide

Wilbur Newgold of Woodstock reported to the sheriff's office at 3.15 this morning that his car had been hit and damaged by another car, which had left the scene of the accident and headed toward Kingston. He gave the license number of the car alleged to have caused the damage. The number given was found to be that of Benjamin Baldwin, 292 Clifton avenue, a foreman in the Ulster county highway department. Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough investigated the complaint.

About half an hour after Newgold's complaint had been received, Mr. Baldwin reported to the sheriff's office that another car had hit his at the intersection of the West Hurley and Woodstock roads, but that neither car had left the scene.

The owners of both cars refused to have the other arrested. Mr. Newgold, who is manager of the Colony Club at Woodstock, gave his version of the accident to a Freeman reporter this forenoon and disclosed the fact that there was much more to it than first appeared, that it happened near the golf links at Woodstock and that out of six people in the car in which he was riding he was the only one that escaped uninjured.

Mr. Newgold said that he had come to Kingston on the late train accompanied by four musicians who were to play at the Colony. They were met at the station by Robert Kallor, who is employed at the Colony and the party left for Woodstock in a large Studebaker eight sedan.

They had just crossed the bridge this side of Woodstock and were straightening out from the curve at that point when Mr. Newgold alleged, a car came "roaring down the road, without lights" and struck them broadside, breaking every piece of glass in the car, all the occupants but himself being cut more or less by the flying glass.

He says that the other car went on a short distance then stopped, a bent fender having interfered with the steering of the car. He went up to interview the driver of the other car but left him to enter a house and telephone to the Colony Hotel that he was all right. When he came out after telephoning he found, as he states, that the other driver had succeeded in getting his car going and had driven on.

Two of the occupants of the Newgold car were treated at the hotel. Two others, more seriously cut, were taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. They were Robert Kallor, driver of the car, and William Robinson, one of the New York musicians.

The Studebaker, in addition to having all windows shattered, was badly damaged otherwise.

POLICE FOUND UPSET CAR JUST BEYOND CITY LINE

About 2:30 o'clock this morning as Officers Harry Martin and Urban Healey in one of the radio cars were driving out Abeel street they found a Plymouth sedan turned over with all four wheels in the air. They investigated but found no one around the car, and no signs of anyone having been badly hurt in the accident. The license number on the car was 7D7103 N. Y. A checkup on the license number revealed that it had been issued to Oscar Benson of St. Remy. The wrecker of Ben Remy towed the car away.

Too often the fellow who has turned over a new leaf ends up by turning back to the front of the book to look at the pictures.

Woodstock Show Monday for Church

The Maverick Theatre, off the Woodstock road, will be the scene next Monday evening of a minstrel show for the benefit of St. John's Church at Stony Hollow and St. Joan Arc Church at Woodstock. The show will be a reproduction of the minstrels presented by St. Joseph's Holy Name Society last April, with several changes. The program to be presented next Monday evening includes numbers by some of Kingston's best entertainers. The show will begin at 8:45 o'clock.
The Maverick grounds affords plenty of room for parking cars, and the rustic theatre provides a quaint setting for what had been one of the most successful minstrel shows staged in Kingston in recent years. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Eideman Charged With Manslaughter

An autopsy performed upon the body of John L. Ellsworth, who was struck at Port Ewen Wednesday morning by the car of Henry Eideman of Terre Haute, Indiana, showed that death had been caused by the fracture of several ribs on both sides of the body and from severe internal injuries. Mr. Ellsworth, an aged resident of this city and a former resident of Port Ewen, died two hours after being brought to the Kingston Hospital after he had been struck as he crossed the highway after alighting from the Port Ewen bus near the junction of the River road.
Following the accident, State Trooper Paul Seneca made an investigation and Mr. Eideman was arrested and charged with assault. Later when Mr. Ellsworth died the charge was changed to manslaughter second degree, and bail was fixed at $2,500. The hearing will be September 2 at 4 o'clock before Justice Benjamin H. Sleight of Port Ewen.

3-Way Problem For Republicans

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—The Republican gubernatorial situation remained a three cornered problem for state leaders today as Governor Alfred M. Landon sped westward and they left Buffalo after a series of conferences with the Republican presidential nominee.
Leaders were unanimous in the statement that no agreements had been made on a candidate to head the state ticket.
The names of Mayor Roland B. Marvin and State Senator George R. Fearon, of Syracuse, and Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, of Yonkers, meanwhile remained equal-prominent in discussions of the question.
Both State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton and Edwin F. Jaekle, Erie county leader, said today that Governor Landon had left the state after his campaign speech here last night without becoming "involved" in the problem.

Refuses to Dismiss Geoghan Charges

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Governor Lehman refused today to dismiss removal charges against District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan.
The governor was ruling on a motion by Geoghan's counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, for dismissal on the ground that any misconduct—if any occurred—must have taken place in Geoghan's prior term of office in King's county.
"My ruling shall not address itself to the merits of the charges against the district attorney, but only to the charges and the evidence that have or will be discussed here," the governor said.
"I am convinced by the precedent of the rulings of previous executives and others, that the charges presented representing acts that may have occurred in a prior term of office, may be considered here."

Ransom Joins Regular Army

According to information supplied by Sergeant Joseph F. Dolan of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station in the court house here and where Ransom was accepted for enlistment, 35 men from the 40th Ordnance Company are to be selected to attend a nine months' course at the Ordnance Field Service School where such specialists as machinists, welders, carpenters, clerks, artillery mechanics, auto mechanics, instrument repairmen, welders and munitions workers are trained.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 27, 1936.

HOLLOW MOCKERY.

It is a sad state of affairs when the United States has to descend from the international morality which Woodrow Wilson sought to establish to the cheap hypocrisy of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

James Truslow Adams, probably the greatest living American historian, in his new book, "The Living Jefferson," says there never has been an administration which has been so reckless with its promises and yet in his Chautauqua speech
 Mr. Roosevelt had the nerve to read our international neighbors a lecture because he said we have witnessed
 "not only the spirit but the letter of international agreements violated with impunity and without regard to the simple principles of honor."

He said further, "Permanent friendships between men can be sustained only by scrupulous respect for the pledged word."

No man, least of all a man in high office, can make such declarations without an explanation, if he has a record for having violated most of the campaign promises he made in 1932. Unless he does, such expressions tend to make the American people the laughing stock of the world.

It is up to Candidate Roosevelt to tell whether he has one set of precepts for dealing with international affairs and another for dealing with domestic affairs. It is up to him to tell whether this is to be taken as an attempt to glide over, without explanation, all his broken promises.

James Truslow Adams writes this sharp indictment:

I cannot recall any other President and Party which has gone so far in the solemnity of their pledges.
 • • • Nor do I recall any other such repudiation of them. That repudiation has not been the result of overwhelming circumstances, but has largely resulted from the endeavor to make over the whole pattern of our social and economic life to meet the personal approbation of a president.

The question at once arises, how can self-government continue if people cannot put faith in the most solemn pledges of the party and candidates for whom the majority votes? If we cannot do so, then the system of party government must crumble, and we have nothing to take its place, except dictatorship or revolutionary chaos.

FATHER DIVINE

Of special interest to many of the metropolitan newspapers and to reporters on assignment from newspapers scattered throughout the nation is the presence of Father Divine and his followers in Ulster county. That Father Divine and his Ulster County heaven is news goes unquestioned.
 He has received more publicity in his undertaking than have numerous high pressure publicity promoters.
 He has become a figure of national importance and the nation looks to Ulster county as the scene of the Father's endeavor in tangible accomplishment. What Father Divine is attempting to bring about obviously will be written in the present and future history of this county. It is no small wonder that the eyes of the querulous are looking to this tradition steeped section of New York state for information regarding the technique and principles of a man who is called God by thousands of ardent followers.

Just what Father Divine will mean to Ulster county and its people is a question of great importance. With the creation of numerous "heavens" in this section, filled with his followers, is proof that Father Divine is going about his task of settlement with a sincerity of purpose that leaves no doubt of the man's objective. It is his definite plan to make Ulster county a heavenly haven for his adherents.

It will be interesting to watch the progress of Father Divine. That progress will unquestionably be of great public interest here and throughout the country. The reason to his teachings and objectives will be a mixture of bewilderment, faith and ridicule. But there is no denying the fact that Father Divine is here in Ulster county and his work is being done.

will be considered important news to thousands of interested and disappointed people.

BIG BOOKS IN LITTLE.

One of the great problems public libraries have to meet is how to get space to store valuable records. Today's news is tomorrow's history.
 But it is obvious that any library which attempted to store all of today's news in its present form, even when the words and the useless clippings are weeded out, is soon going to fill itself out of house and home.
 Even the most condensed meat of important affairs takes room to store. When pictures are added the history files so soon fill up that librarians are always at their wits' ends for storage space.

Microphotography has come to the rescue. Books, clippings, pictures are photographed on very small films. An enormous reference book can be turned into a small film encased in a small but protective box.
 With the aid of a projector the small film will at any time show itself in pictures on a screen, big enough to be studied with comfort.
 So the modern library will add the making, storing and projecting of historical film to its many services.

THOSE HARD OF HEARING.

Many cities now allow a tag day each year to help the blind. There is something about an individual deprived of sight that appeals to the sympathy of even those who are usually thoughtless about the happiness of others. With the funds collected various methods of helping the blind or nearly blind are undertaken—restoring eyesight and increasing the sight of others, purchasing glasses, arranging entertainments, purchasing the special books and newspapers.

Because we do not think of the deaf or hard of hearing as in "special" need of our thought or help, we do not have the great general interest in their welfare.

Physicians in contact with both the blind and the deaf will tell you that the deaf or hard of hearing individual really needs our sympathy and aid more than one deprived of sight. This is due to the fact that not being able to hear distinctly—what is going on about him, he cannot enter into their conversation, business or pleasure. He not only feels "outside" of everything, but is actually apt to be a little suspicious of others—that they are talking about him and likely talking in an unfavorable manner.

You can readily see that this "living within himself" entirely is not only harmful to him mentally and physically, but distressing and embarrassing to his family, friends and those with whom he works. Fortunately for those hard of hearing there have been many hearing aids invented in the last few years, and when the individual is able to get one that fits or suits him, according to the degree and type of hearing he already possesses, he can adjust himself to his surroundings, get regular employment, and can be made happy and free from embarrassment.

However some of those who are hard of hearing have never heard of the real genuine devices for aiding the hearing, others have tried useless or nearly useless methods, and still others have tried hearing aids that while useful to some types of hard of hearing were not suitable for them. It is very gratifying therefore to know that the American Society for the Hard of Hearing,

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Thornton finds writing in Blake Thornton's advertising agency very pleasant.
 She finds Blake himself very pleasant for that matter. As she sits not far from him, she is not aware that she is sitting on a very hot seat. For Blake has a wife who is older than he is, and she is a very cruel and cruel woman. And Carol has passed through an excruciating experience and does not want another. But Blake did enjoy himself very much when she asked him to have dinner in her apartment.

Chapter 10

IRMA COMES HOME
 SEPTEMBER, when the heat relaxed its grip each afternoon with the setting of the sun. When everyone came back to town. Rockbrook emptied as if by magic, and Irma packed her clothes with exquisite care and much tissue paper and went home to take possession of her house.

The warmth of Blake's welcome astonished her. He had driven to Rockbrook to bring her home, and during the drive to Atlanta he talked with feverish eagerness of his plans for the fall. He had bought tickets for the community concert;
 he didn't see why they couldn't get up a dinner-and-bridge club; he intended to take an afternoon off for golf during the week, and he hoped she would play with him now and then.

Irma was vaguely flattered by his eagerness, but with the perversity of her kind she retreated as Blake advanced. She didn't know. . . . She hadn't been well lately ("well" in Irma's vocabulary, was always said in capitals). . . . She wanted to see Dr. Freeman before she made any plans; he might order her to Florida before Christmas.

The core of Blake's being froze slowly. "Irma," his voice pleaded with her, "don't talk about Florida when you're not even home yet." He added bitterly: "Good God, I never get to see you!"

Irma smiled to herself. This, she reflected, was the secret of Blake's eagerness; he didn't see much of her. If she spent a whole winter at home he might be desperately glad to get rid of her, and she preferred having him miss her.

And then, too, there was the question of her health. She intended to see Dr. Freeman tomorrow afternoon. . . .

Her eyes darted about the house,
 searching, hoping for signs of wear.
 "This place is a sight," she said with emphatic relish.

The whole thing had gone sour on Blake. He hoped now that Dr. Freeman would order Irma to Florida—or to Mars. Irma's absence was the supreme luxury he would allow himself, even at the expense of his own necessity. He picked up two of her bags and followed her doggedly upstairs.

The next morning Irma went downtown to see what they were wearing this fall. Shopping was her passion, and she had her favorite salesgirls who greeted her with cordial smiles and sinking hearts.

But the fall lines were still incomplete, and dresses clung stickily to her arms and shoulders when she tried them on. There was literally, Irma told the exhausted clerks, not a decent thing in town. She ate at a peevish, expensive lunch and went to keep her appointment with Dr.
 Freeman.

Dr. Freeman had an emergency appendectomy, and he kept her waiting almost an hour. She walked into his office trembling with nervousness and anger.

It was almost five when she came out, and she called Blake peremptorily.

"I'm at Dr. Freeman's," she said.
 "And I'm completely exhausted. I wish you'd come for me right away."
 "Why, of course," there was dutiful concern in his voice. "Do you mind coming to the sidewalk in about ten minutes, so I won't have to park?"

She had to stand on the sidewalk almost three minutes, and that irritated her still more.

"It's next to impossible," she said when she was seated beside him, "to get along with one car."

His mouth was set. He wouldn't quarrel with her, he swore; it was too degrading. Irma seemed to relish a good rousing battle; it stimulated her like a drink of whiskey. But it left him sore and embarrassed and ashamed to meet her eyes. He said impatiently:

"You have to take your choice. Another car and no long vacations, or vacations and no car. It's the best I can do."

"I have to have the car," she said plaintively. "Dr. Freeman says the sooner I can go to Florida the better it will be for me. He says I'm in a rather serious condition." Her voice shook.

Successful Kitchens

How many homemakers have longed for an "ideal" or a "model" kitchen, forgetting all the time about a "successful" one? The successful kitchen is not large; it is not small. It has conveniences planned and built by members of the family; the color scheme suits them; and they enjoy using it. It does not necessarily cost money. A new Cornell bulletin for homemakers, illustrated with pictures of real kitchens, tells how one may be developed.

JUST WHAT DOES HE MEAN?

Sundown Stories

The Tumble

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. QUACKO lifted the chicken with one wing up to his shoulder and started the procession back through the woods to the pond. The chicken's feet felt a little better, but the darkness that was coming along more rapidly now made him feel quite frightened, even though he was with this kindly collection of ducks.

He had never been really known any ducks. There had been a few in a pond near the barnyard where he had been born, but they had frightened him with their noisy chatter, their constant splashes, their love of that awful thing they called the pond. And yet he was lost and alone and he had to trust these ducks or go back to the woods with his handbagged feet and then what might happen?

He was so young. He did not know the woods. The woods were even darker than where they were now. Wild, strange animals might be in the woods. Oh, he wished he were a little older, knew a little more. And then a dreadful thought came to him. Perhaps these ducks would take him back to their pond and toss him into the water to cure his feet without knowing he couldn't swim, without realizing he dreaded water.

Or maybe they were enemies that could do even greater harm than that. Nervously he wiggled around on Mr. Quacko's shoulder, and Mr. Quacko in his hurry to get home was waddling more unevenly than ever. The chicken thought of his bed-upon feet. He'd the ducks really meant to help.

Trembling more than ever, as Mr. Quacko waddled more quickly, the chicken landed with a little thump on the ground.

Bakelite

Bakelite is an artificial material used in the preparation of varnishes and as a substitute for amber and hard rubber. It is formed by chemical reaction between carboxylic acid and formaldehyde and was discovered by L. H. Baekeland. It is made in two initial forms, distinguished by the letters A and B. Bakelite A is soluble and fusible; bakelite B is insoluble but plastic so that it can be molded. Both of these initial forms are changed under the action of heat and pressure to bakelite C, which is hard, insoluble, infusible, and possesses of high insulating properties.

Moslems Refused Interest

Britain established post office savings banks in Cairo, Egypt, in 1901, but the Mohammedan population, accustomed to bury their savings, were slow to take advantage of the banks because they were offered interest on their money—interest being unlawful by the law of the Koran. It is recorded that in the first two years the banks functioned no less than 3,180 Moslem depositors refused on religious grounds to take any interest on their money.

Every society girl has a coming out party but you can never really tell how she is going to come out until after you see when she has arrived.

Ancient Hawaiians Had Massage Beauty System

The lost art of Hawaiian "body shaping" surpassed modern beauty treatments, Lalani Village instructors believe. Ancient Hawaiians shaped the bodies of their children by skillful massage. Even heads were shaped according to standards of anatomy, writes a Honolulu United Press correspondent.

The soft, formative body of the newborn child was constantly massaged so that head, eyes, fingers, toes and other parts of the body were beautifully formed with greatest care, one instructor said.

The head was well formed partly by having a child sleep on both sides. Eyes were beautified by massage with thumb and forefinger dipped in kukui oil. Fingers and toes were tapered by massaging.

Babies were partly buried in the sand and made to struggle free, thus giving early strength especially to lower limbs.

Both sexes learned grace through the hula. Men received rigorous military training. Women swam as well as the men.

The Rain Crow

The rain crow is the yellow-billed and the black-billed cuckoo. The yellow-billed cuckoo (coccyzus americanus), found all over the United States in summer, is olive-brown, with cinnamon red on the wings and the outer tail-feathers with white tips. It is named from its bill, which is yellow below, but it is more often called the rain crow, because its note, koo-koo-koo, is believed to indicate rain. The black-billed cuckoo (coccyzus erythrophthalmus) of the eastern states, are colored much like the yellow-billed, but have little red on the wings, brown tail-feathers and are characterized by their rich coppery bronze plumage. They are birds of small size and slender build and one species is noteworthy for its migrations between Australia and New Zealand.

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The drought that is lapped off the corn crop probably has saddled congress with making a new relief appropriation almost as soon as it is organized next January. When the last congress set up $1,425,000,000 for relief, it was the intent to make it carry over, mostly on a work-relief basis, until July 1, 1937. But, with the drought, came estimates by the reconstruction administration that 300,000 farm families would be added to the relief rolls over the winter.

That is almost one-fourth the 2,211,117 employed by the work-relief administration at mid-summer and one-sixth as many as were employed at last winter's peak of 3,338,773.

See How Many Needed Since More Than Two Months of the drought have elapsed, there is little to show how the appropriation was holding out before the drought struck. Debate in congress indicated the estimates for unemployment relief were cut fairly close—probably close enough to prevent stretching the fund 15 to 25 per cent to care for 700,000 drought-stricken families, about 2,000,000 persons.

Resettlement Vs. WPA The problem revolves the old controversy between work relief and direct grants, often called the debate. Harry Hopkins' WPA is limited to work relief, but Rexford Guy Tugwell's resettlement administration, with an $85,000,000 allotment, can grant direct relief to rural families.

Already there is back-stage maneuvering to determine who will get the job of taking care of the destitute farmers. Sen. J. C. Tamm's supporters argue that winter restricts the number of works progress jobs available, and that direct relief by the resettlement administration therefore will be necessary.

If jobs cannot be found, will Tugwell be asked by President Roosevelt to grant direct relief and, meantime, to move many families into less hazardous areas? WPA is saving nothing much now as to who will do the job. Its executives contend simply that they are "grounded for the work" and, more important, that Roosevelt knows it.

"Salasie Hopes to Save His Crown." We'd suggest putting it in some good safe deposit vault.

EFFINGER FIGHTS EXTRADITION FROM OHIO

Virgil F. "Bert" Effinger (right), named by Detroit Prosecutor Duncan C. McGree as the Black Legion's national commander, is shown as he opposed extradition to Michigan at a hearing in Columbus, Ohio. His attorney, Clarence C. Miller (left), thumbs through a law book. At the adjournment of the hearing, Charles Lesure, secretary to Gov. Martin L. Davey, held that the warrants asking Effinger's removal to Detroit were "sufficient." (Associated Press Photo)

Sounds You Never Hear
Scientific apparatus can produce sounds as high-pitched as 150,000 or even 200,000 vibrations a second, far too high-pitched to be heard by the human ear, although it is possible that some insects or other living creatures can hear them.

Extremes of things affecting other senses have never been studied so carefully as lights or sounds, but it is known that there exist chemicals many times more effective on the sense of taste than the usual foods. One of these chemicals is more than 2,000 times sweeter than cane sugar. The substances for which taste is believed to be most delicate are, however, certain of the bitter alkaloids, such as strychnine, of which a quantity too small to be detected by chemical analysis is perceived by taste.

The United States Treasury is offering for sale to collectors the following postage stamps. It is hardly necessary to state that these stamps are unused.

It's "Stripped for action"!

A cheap, poorly refined motor oil is like an overdressed wrestler. Such an oil is hampered by useless waste which should be removed by further refining. Such an oil, like the overdressed wrestler, can't do a good job!

Most 25c oils, like this wrestler, are still somewhat hampered. Some of the useless waste has been removed, but not all of it. No refiner of 25c oils could afford to carry refining further than this until Gulf perfected the Multi-oil process.

GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL, like this wrestler, is stripped for action. # South Dakota, Awaiting F. D. R. Visit, Turns From Drouth To '37 Hopes

Mark Twain was wrong, says South Dakota, when he lamented nobody did anything about the weather. Farmers, no crops to tend, are at work at left on the spillway of a dam in Day county, one of many federal water conservation projects in the state aimed at making the best of its rainfall shortage. In Stanley county a crew, at right, receives its WPA paychecks for similar work.

By VINCENT HOYMAN
Pierre, S. D. (AP).—President Roosevelt, starting his drouth appraisal in South Dakota, will find baked fields, scorched grasslands, signs of grasshopper devastation—and farmers talking hopefully of next year's crops. The President's schedule calls for a conference here August 29.
"Seeing the people, you would never know there was anything wrong," Gov. Tom Berry said after a recent trip through the state.
For South Dakota has become used to adversity. Of the five major crop failures recorded by federal agricultural statisticians in the state during the last half century, four have occurred within six years—in 1931, 1933, 1934 and 1936.

Drouth Loss Heavy
Heat and drouth in the state this year has exceeded anything in weather bureau records. Temperatures reached an all-time high of 120 and averaged above 100 for 20 days in July. Rainfall from August, 1935, to July, 1936, was a record low of 10 1/2 inches.
Still a majority of farmers seem optimistic. Rains, they say, will bring return of big agricultural production which put the state high in per capita wealth. Many in the eastern South Dakota farm belt appear to agree with Alvin Kroupenske, Wessington, S. D. farmer, who said recently:
"I'll get along all right. Move out? Maybe some of the people farther west will move from those submarginal lands. But not me. I raised good crops and made good money here and I'll do it again."

Better farm prices have helped. In 1934, worst drouth year on record up to that time, the cash income from crops and livestock in South Dakota was estimated at $83,421,000—including AAA benefit payments. That was some $17,000,000 more than in the generally favorable crop year of 1932, when heavy production brought low prices and there was no AAA.
Farmers Turn to WPA
Except for corn, the federal crop report of August 1 said better crops in general are in prospect for South Dakota this year than in 1934. At the same time, conditions in the western South Dakota range country were described as worse than two years ago. Feed is exhausted, the report said, and "stock numbers will be reduced to milk cows and the barest skeleton of herds and flocks."

To aid South Dakotans until they raise another crop, federal agencies are accelerating relief activities. On August 18 WPA had about 29,000 persons, two-thirds of them farmers, at work on more than 1,000 projects. Another estimated 7,000 farm families were receiving loans or grants from the resettlement administration.
Much WPA work in South Dakota is water conservation. More than 600 small dams have been built. Construction of reservoirs to hold a three-year supply of water for ranches and farms heads a list of long-range recommendations the state planning board will suggest to the federal drouth committee and finally to the President.

Events Around The Empire State

St. Andrews-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP).—Funeral services are planned Saturday for the Rev. Raphael V. O'Connell, S. J., author and professor of philosophy, who died here last night at the age of 78.
He had taught at the Juniata at West Park, N. Y., the College of St. Francis Xavier in New York city, Woodstock College in Maryland and in other colleges in the New York-Maryland province.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP).—Glenn A. Bowers, state unemployment insurance director, said today that "public employment offices will maintain strict neutrality" in labor controversies "whatever the demand for workers."

"This is not a matter of policy, it is a matter of law," he explained. The Wagner-Peyser act under which the New York state employment service is affiliated with the federal employment service makes mandatory a policy of neutrality in labor disputes, Bowers said.

He made the position of the employment offices clear in a report which showed an increase in the placement of workers last month over figures for July, 1935.

Barre, Vt., Aug. 27 (AP).—Allen Snerwood and Francis York, of White Plains, N. Y., were discharged from a hospital here after treatment of injuries suffered when their automobile collided with a truck.

Mrs. Sadie Kelly, 50, and her brother, Charles, of Manchester, N. H., also were injured.

Huntley Castle
Huntley castle, in the highlands of Scotland, was once the headquarters of the Roman Catholic faith in Scotland. Much of the castle has been in ruins, but its great halls have been preserved through the efforts of the ancient monument board and the Aberdeen Antiquarian society. It epitomizes the development of the Scottish castle from the earliest Norman fortresses of earthen timber to the stately buildings of the 17th century.

The Word "Dun"
The word "dun" is supposed by some to be derived from the French "donner." The British Apollo of 1780 says, however, that the word owes its origin to a Joe Dun, a famous bailiff of Lincoln in the time of Henry VIII. He is said to have been so successful in the collection of debts that his name became proverbial. Whenever it seemed almost impossible to make a man pay, people would say, "Why don't you Dun him?"

Pyrethrin, Insect Killer
Pyrethrin is used to kill insects. Many tons of pyrethrum are brought into this country annually from foreign countries, chiefly from Japan. It is a strange crop to most farmers in this country. The pyrethrum belongs to the great Compositae group of plants, which include the chrysanthemum, aster, daisy, dandelion, ragweed, and wormwood. The pyrethrum has flowers that resemble the ordinary field daisy.

Nominations Open For Health Champs

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Somewhere in New York state are a boy and a girl, 4-H Club members, who will be judged the healthiest from all counties at the State Fair in Syracuse, on Thursday, September 10.

Counties may present two candidates who have been selected as a result of a county-wide test, according to Professor W. J. Wright, state leader of 4-H clubs.

Examinations at the State Fair will be conducted by the State Department of Health.
The boy and girl who win first places will represent the Empire State at the national 4-H health contest at Chicago, held in connection with the national boys' and girls' club congress in November.

GREAT DAYS STILL TO COME

—And now it costs less to let the TELEPHONE help you enjoy them . . .

People everywhere are taking advantage of the new reduced out-of-town rates on telephone calls to places in New York State within 34 miles. They're letting the telephone help them get the most out of these fine days.

There are lots of good days still left this Summer and Fall. Days for picnics, days at the beach, weekends with friends, trips you'll remember.

It's so easy, quick and so inexpensive to arrange things by telephone. Don't miss good times simply because a few uncertainties stand in the way. A telephone call or two will generally clear them up.

Every day in the year you'll find these new low rates make it cost less than ever to keep in close touch with friends and relatives, with the stores, shops, hairdressers, doctors and dentists in nearby places. Savings on a few typical calls are shown below.

Landon Charges 'Wasteful Spend in'

must give part of what we receive in our pay envelope or part of the crops we raise. We must remember that every time the government spends a dollar, that dollar will have to be paid by us or we must pay the debt on to be paid by our children. No parents like to leave their children a heritage of debts and mortgages. But the creation of a staggering public debt closes the door of opportunity to the youth of America, just as certainly as a staggering private debt. We must face the issue squarely. The present administration's daily mounting deficits are closing the door of opportunity to our children and to my children. (Applause.)

We must not lose sight of the fact that a public debt is just as much a liability to each and every individual as a private debt. The fundamental principles of government finance are exactly the same common sense principles that we follow in the handling of our own family finances. So long as government follows these principles our people will prosper. They will be able to weather depression, drought and other disasters. But if our government disregards these principles, it squanders our resources and destroys the public credit.

Now, what are these principles? In broadest terms there are four of them.

Must Guard Income Source

The government must guard and preserve its source of income. The government must make sure that it gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends.

The government must not get in the habit of spending more than it receives. Finally, the government must prepare for the rainy day.

These, in brief, are the four great principles which a prudent, foresighted head of a family follows in the handling of his own finances. They are the same four great principles which a prudent foresighted government must follow if it is to meet the financial demands made upon it by an increasingly complex civilization.

Now let us examine each of the four principles in turn. The first is the question of guarding and preserving the source of income. Fundamentally this is a question of the fairness of the kind of taxes that are levied. Are they direct taxes levied according to our ability to pay, or are they indirect taxes levied without regard to our ability to contribute to the support of the government?

It has always been my belief that the government should raise the major portion of its revenue from direct taxes levied on the net income of individuals and corporations. Once this is done, every one pays for his fair share and knows just how much the government is costing him. I have constantly worked for legislation in Kansas to prevent concealment of the cost of government. On the other hand, if the major portion of the government's income is obtained from indirect and hidden taxes—taxes upon such things as food, clothing, gasoline and cigarettes—then the main burden falls upon those of small income. In this case, it is the wage earner, the salaried worker, the farmer and the small business man who have to pay most of the bill.

Now, let us turn to the record and see just who is paying the cost of our government.

Tax on Poor Shows Rise

What do the figures of the Treasury Department show? They show that in the year 1932 59 cents out of every dollar collected by our Federal government was secured from direct taxes. The other 41 cents was collected from indirect and hidden taxes, paid, for the most part, by people with incomes of $25 a week or less.

That was for 1932. Four years later what do we find? We find that 51 cents out of every dollar collected by the Federal government came from hidden taxes. In other words, the share of the cost of government falling mainly on those with incomes of $25 a week or less has increased 25 per cent during the three years of the present Administration. They are paying far more than their rightful share of the cost of government. Any housewife can tell you this, because the housewife knows, better than anybody else, how the mounting cost of living is curtailing the comfort of the home. And you cannot long fool her with the pretense that only the rich will pay.

This increase has come despite the fact that the tax rates on incomes of individuals and corporations have been raised. It has come despite the fact that they are paying far more actual money into the treasury than they did in 1932. In other words, the larger payments by well-to-do individuals and corporations have

PUBLIC NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICE—NIGHT DIVISION
PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION
ALBANY
August 26, 1936
LAST NO. 1927
In the Matter of the Petition of Guy C. Kelly and Nelson B. Kelly, Comptrollers, Inc., as Liquidators of the Lighting Company, under section 26 of the Public Service Law for permission to transfer the franchise, works and system to New York State Electric & Gas Corporation.
Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the above matter by the Commission in Hearing Room No. 2, First Floor, State Office Building in the City of Albany, on Monday, August 27, 1936, at 2 o'clock P. M. Any person desiring to be heard may appear in person or by counsel.

By the Commission, FRANKS E. ROBERTS, Secretary

not been enough to cover the waste and extravagance of this Administration! What is the result? Those of our citizens with small incomes have had to pay an increased proportion of the cost of the federal government.

And just how have those with small incomes paid more? When we consider the government as a whole—federal, state and local—we find that they have paid in a thousand different ways. Take bread for example. When we buy a loaf of bread for 10 cents we pay about eight cents for the bread. The other two cents go for taxes. So if we smoke a package of cigarettes a day we pay $22 a year in taxes. So if we buy a suit of clothing without the government's taking in taxes a part of the money we pay out. We cannot buy an ounce of food at our grocery store without being taxed to support the government. We cannot go to a movie, or to a baseball game, or ride in an automobile without this invisible tax arm of government reaching out and taking a part of the money we spend. This has been a growing tendency of government in recent years.

Finds Most Taxes Hidden

Most of these taxes, it is true, are hidden so deeply that we cannot see them. But the taxes are there just as truly as they are in the sales tax on gasoline. They cost just as much, and are just as real, as they would be if they were taken right out of our pay envelopes. These hidden taxes—federal, state and local—amount to about 20 cents out of every dollar we spend. In the case of the Federal government they amount to over $5 a month for every family.

It is in this way that the government's financial policies affect us as individuals. The more the government wastes, the more money it has to take from us. The more it takes from us the less food and clothing we can buy for ourselves, the less we have for the education of our children and the less we have left to set aside for meeting emergencies—for the building of homes, for improvement of farms, for the construction of factories. In short, every dollar that the government takes from us in taxes means just $1 less for us—a dollar that we might use to buy things, the production of which would create jobs. (Applause.)

There is no better illustration of all this than the so-called surplus tax bill jammed through Congress this spring.

One practical effect of this tax law is to prevent a corporation from using its earnings in the business. It must pay them out in dividends. In consequence, earnings no longer provide funds for making needed improvements, for replacing out-of-date equipment, and for additions to the plant.

Now what does this mean to a man looking for a job? It means less chance of finding work. There will not be those jobs that come from the gradual growth of our small businesses, from the replacement of equipment, and from plant expansion.

For those workers who already have jobs the effect of this tax law is just as bad. Because of this legislation it is no longer possible for a business, except at unbearable cost, to build up a reserve for meeting future losses. In other words, a business organization, unless it already has reserves, is put on a hand-to-mouth basis. This means that it can exist only so long as it can make a profit. Once trade slackens to the point where the business cannot make a profit, it is lost. Not having a reserve to fall back upon, its lot is bankruptcy, and the lot of the workers is unemployment.

There is one other point in this connection I would like to make. During the depression private industry paid out over twenty billion dollars more than it took in—twenty billion dollars that helped to cushion the depression and keep employees working. This expenditure was possible only because of reserves created during prosperous years.

Little Fellow Held Down

Yet by careless, ill-advised tax legislation this present administration is, in effect, forbidding a restoration of the reserves exhausted by the depression. The sponsors of this tax law may have thought that it was a smart way to appear to "soak the rich." Actually it has no relation to "soaking the rich." What it does is protect the big fellow who still has a reserve, and tie a millstone around the neck of the little fellow. (Applause.)

This legislation prevents the small business man from expanding by the usual method of plowing earnings back into his organization. It is making harder and harder the re-employment of many of those at present out of work. And it is jeopardizing the job of every man and woman who today is working for a business corporation. This is the most cock-eyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed in a modern country. (Applause.) And if I am elected a shall recommend immediate repeal of this vicious method of taxation.

Let Me Add, the Revision of this tax bill is only one of the changes needed in our tax system. Our whole tax structure, federal and state, needs overhauling.

Must Get Dollar's Worth.

This leads us to the second principle which I have stated—that we must make sure that our government gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends. By that I mean that we must get our money's worth for the taxes we pay. We must not lose sight of the fact that it is our money that the administration is wasting.

There are many cases in which it is quite obvious that the country, as a whole, gets more for the dollars spent by the government than it would if we kept the money and spent it ourselves. I refer to such expenditures as are necessary to provide adequate protection, to maintain our courts, and to enforce our laws. These expenditures are essential if we are to live in an orderly society. They help us to maintain our political and economic liberties and to enjoy the fruits of our own labor.

For these expenditures, if they are made efficiently and with economy, we do get a dollar's worth of every dollar we spend.

Until a few years ago, this type of expenditure made up the bulk of our federal expenses. Under the present administration this is no longer true. Today, the administration is spending money for almost every conceivable thing. It is spending money for the necessary things in ways we cannot afford—in reckless ways which are beyond our means—which would never appeal to any one who has had to work for his money—to any one who has had to face the problem of making both ends meet—to any one who has had to see to it that his bills get paid. The Republican party believes in being generous in the spending of money for relief and emergency purposes, but it believes that these funds should be spent without waste and absurdities.

Fool's Paradise Assailed

This brings us to our third principle—that the government, like the rest of us, should not get the habit of spending more than it receives. The present Administration seems to have entirely disregarded this principle. It is paying half of its bills with borrowed money. The truth is we are living in a fool's paradise—far beyond our income.

We all know that this cannot continue indefinitely, because we have known persons who have tried it. We have seen them go along for a while with apparent ease, buying first one thing and then another which they could not afford. And then we have seen them wind up "on the rocks."

Whenever a government continues to live beyond its income, it will suffer the same fate. For a while there will seem to be no end to the money which the government can spend. But in due time the day of reckoning must come. Some one, sometime, will have to pay the bill.

How is it that the government has been able to follow such a will-o'-the-wisp financial policy? It is because the public has not been properly informed.

We have been told that all this extravagance will be paid for by "soaking the rich." This is not possible. The figures of our Treasury Department show that if we confiscated all incomes in excess of $5,000 a year—confiscated them, mind you—it would not be enough to pay for the cost of our Federal government!

Do not think that we have been getting something for nothing as the result of the huge government spending of the past three years. Some of the debt, it is true, has been shifted to the wealthy but the principal and the interest, is being charged up against ourselves and our children. There is no other group to whom we can shift the burden, and it is a burden that gets heavier and heavier every day that the present wasteful policies of the administration are continued.

Would Plan For Rainy Day

The final principle the government must follow is to prepare for the rainy day. In our own families we all recognize the importance of doing this and we try to build up individual reserves.

In the case of the government the equivalent of these reserves is the ability to borrow. It protects this ability by keeping its financial house in the best possible order.

How does it do this? In periods of good times, the government pays off its debts, so that if necessary it will be able to borrow again. It keeps its taxes as low as possible, so that there will be a reserve of tax-paying ability which can be called upon to meet emergencies. It permits its citizens to prosper, so that they will not have to go to the government for aid at the first breath of ill wind. These are the policies to be followed in good times. In bad times certain changes become necessary. But a financially responsible administration never loses sight of the fact that it acts at all times as a trustee of the people.

It watches every dollar it spends to be sure that it is used in the way that will do the most good. It borrows no more than is absolutely necessary, for it knows that if we exhaust our borrowing capacity today, our children will be helpless should they be called upon to face an emergency.

Urges Common Sense

In my judgment these are the common sense principles that our Federal government should follow. Unfortunately, they are not the principles which have been followed by the present administration.

In spite of repeated assurances about a balanced budget—in October, 1932, after the banking holiday in 1933, in January, 1934, in January, 1935, and in January, 1936—what has happened?

The administration has continued to increase expenditures, even for the regular departments, and carry us deeper and deeper into debt. The latest assurance, volunteered only thirteen days ago, repeats the old story—"business is improving, revenue increasing, no new taxes will be necessary to balance the budget." How can any one believe this, in the face of the record of the present administration?

It has piled deficit upon deficit. It has increased our public debt until today the total is equal to two-thirds of the annual income of every man, woman and child in the United States.

It has created an atmosphere of spendthrift generosity that has made it impossible for it to restore economy in government expenditures. It has acted as if it were willing to give the whole Treasury away, trying to enrich everybody by impoverishing everybody else.

The time has come to put an end to these policies. We must establish a system of simple, honest bookkeeping. We must return to the principles which we follow in the handling of our own finances.

This will give us a government able to meet every reasonable demand upon it; a government fully prepared to assume its increasing financial responsibilities; a government able to meet the needs that arise from any emergency; a government that will leave our children a fair chance to solve the problems that arise in their time.

That is the kind of government we must have if we are to get rid of unemployment by giving our workers real jobs at good pay. I know that accomplishing all this is not a task that can be completed over night, and I make no such promise. We have huge responsibilities that we must continue to meet. But with the help of a courageous country it is a task that can and will be done. That is my pledge to the American people.

Republican Radio Program Planned

A statement from the radio division of the Republican national committee announces that the Republican-sponsored radio program, "News for Voters," will in the future be known as "William Hard's Hour."

Although the program is sponsored by the Republican party, Hard denotes his services. The material he uses in his discussions is the result of his own independent investigations. The William Hard Hour is heard nightly, from Monday to Friday, over Station WENR, Chicago, and the N.B.C. coast-to-coast blue network at 9 p. m., E.S.T., except on Wednesday when it is heard at 8:30 p. m., E.S.T.

Fred Stone, although 62, is an expert truck roper.

Lost Valuable Gems

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 27 (AP)—Miss Frances Blum of (2535 97th street) East Elmhurst, Long Island, reported to police last night that she had lost her purse containing $18 and jewelry valued at $2,500 in a Texas Centennial Exposition building. Miss Blum said the jewelry included two platinum and two gold diamond-studded bracelets, a brooch with 105 diamonds, and a platinum ring.

Five Members of Family Die in Flames

Honesdale, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP)—Flames roared through a frame dwelling at Indian Orchard early today, killing five members of a family and injuring two.

Fire Chief Ray Smith of Honesdale said George Grimm, 64, his wife, Irene, 46, and their children, Donald, 10, Mildred, 7, and Marion, 12, burned to death.

Coroner Oliver Osborn, of Wayne county, after an investigation, said all had met "accidental deaths."

Jean, 8, and Fay, 2, other daughters, were partially overcome by smoke, Smith said, and taken to a hospital.

Smith said Jean told him her father rescued her and Fay, then returned to the blazing building to save the others.

Firemen were unable to save any part of the structure.

Smith said the cause was undetermined. Neighbors told him Grimm had complained recently of a defective fuse.

The intense heat prevented an immediate search for the bodies.

Grimm was a former state highway employee. Neighbors said he had been unemployed recently.

John Calvin Brown Speaks the Voice of The General Public

John Calvin Brown, who speaks at Stone Ridge on Saturday at 3:30, is, in every sense of the word, a "figure", one who brings to his every public appearance a force, a conviction, a dynamics that leave with his audience an admiration for and a belief in his logical analysis of modern governmental problems and his great genius in "thinking through" the issues that are facing the country.

Mr. Brown has spent a great portion of the last 30 years in Europe and is able, therefore, to see American trends and present fantastic events in unique perspective—comes from the common stock of America, the pioneer fibre that lifted the United States to greatness. He was born in a sodhouse on a homestead claim on the north fork of the Platte River, in Nebraska, and spent his early life in punching cattle and mining.

His father drove one of the first stagecoaches on the Deadwood-Cheyenne line and was a scout during the Indian wars. John Calvin Brown covered a four year high school course in two years then shifted for himself.

In the lower Mississippi Valley he entered the lumber business, established sawmills in southeastern Missouri, built the town of Hough, and from his forest lands came the rare cypress wood with which the St. Louis Exposition was built.

Mr. Brown subsequently engaged in the construction business and went to Europe where he built some of the show places including the White City, at Manchester, England, the New Brighton Tower at Liverpool, England, the International Exposition at Nancy, France, the Magic City in Paris, the Earl Court Exposition at London and La Rabasada at Barcelona, Spain.

Mr. Brown, in his European travels and business ventures, made an exhaustive study of politics and economics, especially insofar as they are linked with developments and events in the United States. Besides being a Republican, with a keen, avid interest in party affairs, he began, more than two decades ago, economic surveys that have occupied his leisure time, and within the past five years have become a major pursuit—almost a complete occupation.

In the 1916 Republican campaign he was the key speaker and was author of "Every American's Business," a study of national and international affairs, which was used by the Republican National Committee as the official textbook for speakers. This was his second published volume on economics and world politics. His first book, "The Cure for Poverty," was issued in London in 1914 and treated with British and European problems.

During the war—and extending into the post-war years—Mr. Brown aided the British government in working out and developing the Ministry of Reconstruction, a bureau set up to devise ways and means of absorbing the violent commercial shocks that were awaited when the end of the war would reduce the pace of industry that had been speeded to meet war's demands and drew all of the reconstruction legislation which was introduced in the American Congress.

In 1924 his third book, "Politics and Welfare," was brought out in the United States and used extensively by speakers in that campaign, in which he participated to help elect President Coolidge. By this time, his fame in France and England as one of the foremost practical economists had placed him in the front rank of public men and his opinions and utterances were of such import that he was constantly the central figure in party discussions, acting as a personal adviser to several of our presidents, many of the leading congressional figures, groups of industrialists and legislative experts in government service and several foreign governments.

In the 1928 presidential campaign Mr. Brown was president of the National Minute Men and over five thousand of his speeches were broadcast over the chain of 155 stations and over 50,000 of his editorials were released for the press.

Mr. Brown has never held or been a candidate for public office and his participation in politics is based solely on a patriotic interest in the general welfare of his country.

He speaks the voice of the general public and fights for general rather than partisan welfare.

He is commander of the Citizens Guard, a non-partisan organization of citizens whose objective is the reinstatement of common sense and common honesty in America's activities and practices.

Legion Will Vote On Loyalty Oath

Rome, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP).—The American Legion convention at Syracuse next week will be asked to approve a resolution calling for a loyalty oath for every person employed on a public payroll.

The move is to be sponsored by Dr. Louis J. Scheller, commander of Henry P. Smith Post of this city, who said:

"When we joined the army we all had to raise our right arm and take an oath of allegiance that we would protect the constitution. Why shouldn't those receiving compensation from public taxation do the same?"

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, Aug. 27.—The combined Sunday school will hold a picnic at Trinka's Grove in Asbury on Saturday, August 29. Cars will leave Mt. Marion Saturday morning shortly before noon. All members and their friends are welcome.

There will be a magician's show and performance at the church hall on Thursday evening, September 3, at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

The Mt. Marion school is being cleaned and put into condition for the first day of the fall term, Tuesday, September 1.

Mt. Marion P. T. A. will hold its first fall meeting in the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening, September 8. There will be a speaker and the program for the year will be introduced. Everyone is urged to attend.

Mrs. Edward Melick, of New Jersey, who was operated on by Dr. Snyder in the Kingston Hospital Monday, is improving steadily. Mrs. Melick is the former Edna Hillier of Hurley and has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Harder, of Mt. Marion.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Aug. 27.—County Treasurer Pratt Bolce keenly expressed his regrets that due to other previously made arrangements he was unable to attend the West Shokan Church fair and old home coming celebration, held Wednesday, August 19. Mr. Bolce holds dear to his heart his old Olive ancestral community and its people.

Donald Bishop is entertaining his former Hartwick College classmate, Mr. McDougall, of Dunesburg. Mrs. Florence Donahoe of Krumville is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. John Eckert at Broadhead. Mrs. Eckert has not been enjoying good health since her severe illness last winter.

Robert Thompson, since leaving the CCC service and employed in the field of commercial advertising, spent the week-end at his home here.

The most satisfactory sum of $192 was netted the West Shokan Ladies' Aid through the holding of their recent fair and supper. This amount exceeds any previous similar event.

Starting on the anniversary of the big August freshet of 1933, the Bushkill flood control project, employing 300 odd men, was launched Tuesday under the supervision of Commissioner Claude Bell.

A routine Boy Scout meeting was held at the home of Leader Charles H. Waldner, Tuesday afternoon, at Locust Hill Farm.

Miss Marian Davis arrived home Friday, where she is heartily enjoying a two weeks' well earned vacation, being steadily employed since completing last winter her three years' training course at St. Luke's Hospital, New York city.

Mrs. Jane Ann Burgher on Tuesday entertained at her home her life-long friend, Mrs. Ida Snyder, who is summering at Traver Hollow Inn.

Prayer meeting will be held at the Community Church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be led by Joseph Brocas. Sunday morning preaching service was well attended in spite of the threatening weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Crawford of Olive Bridge were callers at West Shokan Heights.

Reservations for approximately 125 have been made for dinner Monday to be served by the Ladies' Aid at the West Shokan Church. The guests to be entertained are the ladies visiting Kingston in connection with the State Masonic Convention of Royal and Select Masters. The group will stop for dinner while the caravan is making a slight

ROOSEVELT LEAVES ON TOUR OF DROUGHT AREAS

Bound for drought-ravaged sections of the Midwest, President Roosevelt is shown as he boarded the presidential special at Washington bound for Bismarck, N. D., the start of a tour through sun-baked prairie land, which will wind up with a governors' conference at Des Moines at which his presidential opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon, will be a principal conferee. With the President are James Roosevelt (left), Mrs. Roosevelt, and Franklin, Jr. (Associated Press Photo) seeing trip through Woodstock and around the Ashokan reservoir.

On Friday evening, August 21, a surprise party was given to Mrs. Lena R. Burgher, worthy matron of Clinton Chapter, No. 145, Kingston, at her home in West Shokan by the officers and members of Clinton Chapter and friends. There were about 45 in all. During the evening games, bridge, pinocle and lotto were played. At a specified time a large birthday cake, made by the senior past matron of Clinton Chapter, Anna Van Aken, and decorated with green candles, was presented to the worthy matron by Ethel M. Jones, one of the past matrons, also a gift of money from those present. It was a delightful affair. The guests brought all the good things to eat including sandwiches, pickles, cake and punch. All departed at a late hour wishing the matron many more happy birthdays. Previous to this party Mrs. Burgher was presented with a large birthday cake especially made by one of the guests at the Burgher House, Mrs. Harrington, also a large basket of wild flowers with an appropriate verse composed by another guest, Mr. Harrington. She was presented with many useful gifts from the guests at the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pixlee of Nutley, N. J., and his mother, Mrs. C. Pixlee, and a little girl relative of Mrs. Pixlee, Jr., are staying at the Burgher House. With the exception of one summer Mrs. Pixlee has been stopping with the Burghers for 21 consecutive years.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jones and the Misses Mary and Evelyn Howard of Kingston were picnic callers at the Burgher House Sunday night.

E. E. Burgher has returned to Sidney where he has employment with his truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington and two sons, John and Arthur, and Mr. and Mrs. David Sennott, formerly Eleanor Twyford, also Mr. and Mrs. John Twyford returned to their homes after staying two weeks at the Burgher House.

"Life insurance" is really living up to its name. It used to be that far more life insurance money went to the beneficiaries of deceased policyholders than to the policyholders themselves. Today the situation has changed drastically. During the six years of depression, $6,000,000,000 went to beneficiaries upon the death of the insured. Twice as much, $12,000,000,000, went to living policyholders through matured endowments, surrender values, dividends, etc.

Spain is giving other nations a wonderful lesson in settling their political and economic quarrels before they start shooting.

Some college highbrow should make a study of the relations between oratory and political weather.

MODES of the MOMENT

KNITTED CULOTTES GO BICYCLING

With young America registering increasing enthusiasm for cycling, culottes (divided skirts) are becoming firmly entrenched in the mode. It has slash pockets closed with slide fastenings.

Home Institute ETIQUETTE OF THE CALL

Marjorie Puts Hat at His Ease.

When he comes to call, does the evening bristle with dismayed little problems of etiquette? Or do you feel sure of yourself?

Put him at his ease by meeting him at the door. Certainly this is correct! If he looks helplessly around for a place to park his hat, take it from him. He will not remove his coat, even on a warm evening, unless you suggest it—if he is well-bred. If he does, don't act surprised but dispose of it.

If it is his first call, you will of course introduce him to the family.

"Mother, this is Hal Jones," you say, not the other way around. If sister is just a slip of a girl, under 18, introduce her to Hal as "My sister Alice." If she is 18 or more, then say "Alice, this is Hal Jones." If she is married say "Mrs. Hastings, Hal Jones," and explain to Hal that she is your sister. Introduce your young brother as "My brother Tom."

If your caller suggests going out to a movie or some other informal entertainment and asks "Where shall we go?" specify your choice. Men don't seem to like it if you pass the ball right back with "Oh, anywhere you'd like to go."

When you're sure of your etiquette, social occasions are a joy. Our 40-page booklet, Etiquette For Every Day, clears up bothersome little problems. Who goes first down a theatre aisle. Into a restaurant? When in the public spotlight, know the rules!

Various Animals Can Use Tails to Good Advantage

Tails of some animals are not always the useless appendages they seem at a casual glance. Nor are they merely ornamental. Take, for instance, the lovely "brush" of the squirrel. Apart from the charm it imparts to its wearer, the squirrel's tail can be converted into a very useful weapon.

When chased by some predatory animal and finding itself hard pressed, the squirrel will often make good his escape by stuffing the bushy tail in the eyes of the foe, and thus causing him to pause for a moment. When the pursuer can see clearly again the squirrel is out of his reach. The squirrel has other uses for his tail also. It is a useful balancing pole when the rodent has to cross a very thin, swaying branch. In winter it is a fine blanket to keep out the cold.

The tail of the beaver, says a writer in the Montreal Herald, is used as an alarm gun. When an enemy is sighted the loud sound of the flat tail smacking the surface of the water is a warning to every beaver to scamper into the river and dive for safety.

The kangaroo's thick and heavy tail makes a fine seat. When he wishes to rest it makes a tripod to sit on.

One of the lowliest tails in the animal kingdom belongs to the ant-eater. He uses his great bush as a sunshade, curling the massive fan-shaped plume over his back.

A "Conversation"

Aboard Roosevelt train en route to Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 27 (AP)—Published reports that President Roosevelt contemplated a world peace and disarmament conference in the event of his reelection met today with Secretary Waller's statement that he had been authorized to say the government had not had any "conversations" aimed at bringing about such a meeting.

Milk Producers' Six-Point Platform

By the Associated Press.

Consideration of a milk strike by members of the New York State Milk Producers' Federation, Inc., crystallized today in a six point platform while leaders maintained that "sentiment for a strike is as strong as ever" if demands for $3 milk are refused.

Stanley Piseck, federation president, who presided at a meeting of federation directors and area leaders in Poland yesterday at which the six point program was adopted said the conference indicated "a strike might be necessary soon."

The program calls for:
Abolition of the classified price plan.

All fluid milk sales on a three per cent basis with the butterfat differential (a minimum of three per cent butter fat per hundred pounds of milk with a bonus for butter fat in excess of that figure.)

All milk sales at a flat rate of $1 per hundred pounds with the price fluctuating as production costs warrant.

Price fixing monthly by representatives of each county, the price to be announced by the 25th of the month. (Prices are now announced approximately 45 days after delivery.)

Elimination of price fixing by the State Milk control board in the dealer to dealer and dealer to consumer classes.

The same sanitary requirements for milk sold in milk products in state New York that are set for New York city markets.

George Chamberlain, northern

New York dairymen, told the meeting that strike sentiment in the north county "is as strong as ever."

The group invited Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck to attend a mass meeting of dairymen at Poland next Sunday. Piseck will speak.

Meanwhile Ten Eyck declared at Albany that he is considering no increase in the state fixed minimum price to consumers at the present time although dealers are pressing for the raise.

Well, they are shooting a lot of bombs over in Spain just now but if they aren't better marksmen than they were in 1938 there isn't much danger of blotting out the population.

Asks Enforcement Delay

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Charles A. Harnett, state motor vehicle commissioner, said today he would ask state and local police to delay enforcement of the New York state law requiring mechanical signaling devices on certain types of motor vehicles until January 1, 1937. The law takes effect September 1 but Commissioner Harnett explained that he would ask the five months moratorium "because manufacturers are so swamped with orders they cannot fill the demand."

"I'VE HEARD my Mummy and her friends talking and they say there's just no comparison between ordinary dressings and Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise!"

Of course there isn't! Real mayonnaise like Hellmann's is made differently. That's why it's so much richer, creamier, more full-bodied! It contains only choice salad oil, freshly-broken eggs, a specially selected vinegar, and imported spices. No starchy fillers. It's all mayonnaise! And it's double-chipped for velvety smoothness.

Why not get a jar of Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise today? See how much better you like it. Yet it costs but a trifle per salad. Ask your grocer!

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

MILITARY TRAINING DOUBLED FOR NAZI YOUTH

Within a month, Nazi Germany will have more than a million men under arms or receiving virtual military training. It was estimated on the heels of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's decree increasing the time of compulsory military service from one to two years. The decree means an extra year for thousands of young men of (1) goosestepping before state and military officials, (2) and (3) mimic warfare against imaginary enemies, and (4) formal inspections by reviewing officers. ### "Surprised at Clergymen."

Kingston, N. Y., August 27, 1936.
Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman:
Dear Sir,

As a temporary resident of your city my interest was aroused by a protest against an article in the Highland Post, said protest being published in your issue of Tuesday evening. I noticed that it was signed by several clergymen of this city.

On looking up the article in question I find myself in entire accord with the sentiments expressed by these gentlemen, for the article from the pen of the "Square of Krum Elbow" merits the contempt of every decent American. Its insulting reference to the President of the United States, and its cowardly charges against our Jewish citizens are unworthy of a place in our public press.

However I am somewhat surprised at the inconsistency of the clergymen in this city. Last Thursday I saw a parade in Kingston in which many banners were carried, these banners bearing statements that "Father Divine is God," that "he is the same Jesus that was on earth 1900 years ago," and other blasphemous expressions of like character. So far as I can ascertain, no pastor in this city has publicly protested against this "blasphemy" of the Almighty, and the founder of the Christian Church. On the contrary, I am told that at least one Kingston pastor in his pulpit last Sunday endeavored to present an argument in favor of last week's demonstration by "Father Divine" and his followers.

While loyalty to their President and sympathy for their Jewish brethren are most commendable, it would seem that the pastors signing the protest in question also owe a evening from a week spent in Syracuse.

Mrs. William H. Wilcox visited her sister, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, early in the week before going to Grahamsville to spend a day.

The residence of John R. Wood has been given a coat of white paint with green trim.

Ben Polack has recently purchased a new Ford V8 truck.

higher loyalty to their God, and they might well consider the effect of such a blasphemous exhibition on the streets of this city, and should voice their protest in no uncertain terms from their respective pulpits.

Had the parade taken place in my home city I am sure that it would not have gone unchallenged, and the indifference of the local pastors in this matter is hard to understand.

Very truly yours,
L. J. ATWOOD.

Wants to Know About Family

To the Editor of The Freeman:
Perhaps your newspaper can help me find the information I need to complete a genealogy record. It concerns Captain George Pepperell Frost who is said to have lived in Ulster county at one period of the American Revolutionary War. His first wife was Elizabeth Goslin. His second wife was Agnes Green. I have the names of the Frost Children by both marriages, but I am at a loss to place the Goslin or Green branches of the family. It is possible that some of the descendants of the original Goslin or Green families or both may still reside in Ulster. Any information from a reader or historian will be appreciated. Also while on the subject, I would like to know definitely where James Monroe Frost, Ulster school teacher, born in 1816, and who died near Highland, about 1901, at the age of 84, is buried. It is possible that county records at Kingston may indicate the place? Any information along these lines will be appreciated.

Miss Darrow Home From Europe As An Exchange Student

Saugerties, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Miss Elizabeth Westbrook Darrow returned to her home here last evening after two years and two months in Europe as an exchange student.

Miss Darrow returned on the St. Louis, a Hamburg-American liner, yesterday afternoon and was met by her mother, Mrs. Frederick E. W. Darrow, and a sister, Miss Jean Darrow.

Dressed in a white sports dress with green scarf and buttons, and a pair of leather sandals recently purchased in Poland, and wearing an old fashioned bouquet, Miss Darrow's immediate criticism of her countrywomen upon her return was the use of lipstick and the fact that all Americans talk through their noses. Speaking with a slight foreign accent after her two years on the European continent, tanned, and a few pounds heavier than when she left, Miss Darrow came home laden with a fluent speech of four foreign languages and volumes of textbooks in the tongues of French, German, Italian and Spanish.

Nearly all of her time was spent in universities in Italy and Germany, and Miss Darrow told something of her enthusiasm for both Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini. Among highlights of her interesting visit, Miss Darrow attended the recent Olympics in Berlin on the day that Ohio State's star negro athlete, Jesse Owens, won the broad jump, she was in France during the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia, and in Germany during those of Roehm, Dolfuss, and Schleicher. These were all highly significant as with each came a war cloud threat to disturb the peace of these restless nations.

Miss Darrow, who graduated on June 12, 1934, from Vassar College, sailed two days later for Germany and remained there until August. After a short stay in France she went to Italy, attending the University of Florence until the following August in 1935, and then went to Heidelberg in Germany and attended the university there until July of this year. She was there during the 550th anniversary celebration—the oldest institution of learning in present day Germany.

Regarding America's resentment on the part of some who attempted to restrain scholars from attending these exercises, she asserted that culture and politics had nothing in this instance to do with each other, and that those who criticized did so through ignorance.

"For the goals they have in view Hitler and Mussolini are not making any mistakes," Miss Darrow affirmed, and while she believed the war with Ethiopia unnecessary nevertheless she felt that because of sanctions ordered by the League of Nations the Italians were brought together to fight the war they were not especially enthusiastic about. Dictators are only necessary when a country needs them, Miss Darrow continued, but the United States does not need one, she opined. She has no idea who she will vote for now that she is home. Regarding President Roosevelt abroad, she expressed a belief that they don't say much about him, and that may be due to the fact that Europeans are much more concerned over their own well being.

Admitting that there is a strict censorship of the press in Germany, Miss Darrow held the view that while propaganda in that country comes from official sources, and that we have much more of it here from persons like "Huey Long and Father what's-his-name-Coughlin."

"Hitler couldn't have done better than he has," she declared. "As for the treaty of Versailles, it may be responsible for the next war."

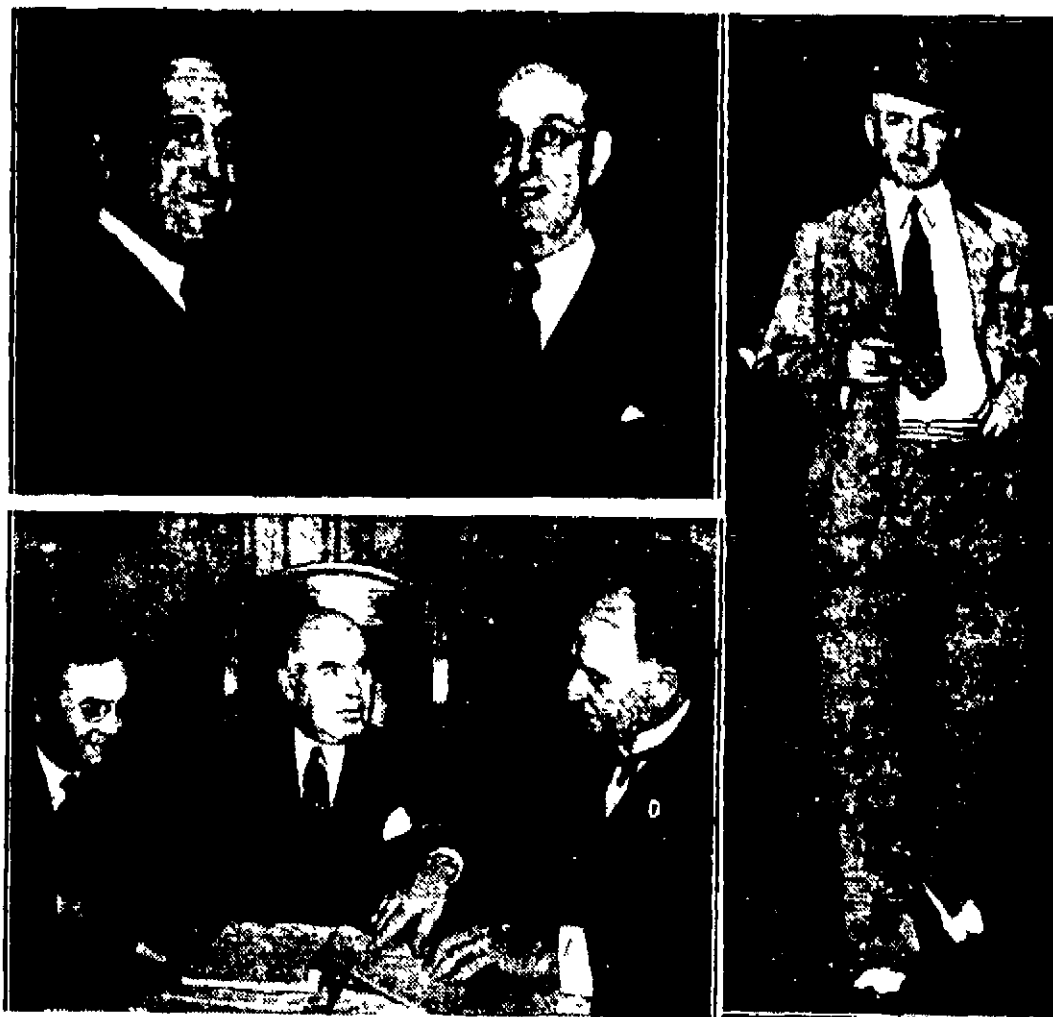

One story Miss Darrow told, was of an English girl, aged 19, who was tutoring a prominent Italian family of anti-Fascist political belief, and when she left that position for one with sympathetic views for Il Duce she was questioned, as were her friends, about her political activities, and finally when she left for her native home in England she was followed by spies to the border where her luggage was carefully examined. However, because the girl was innocent, nothing came of it, yet it goes to show how careful the government is to guard its secrets.

Miss Darrow saw 10,000 Nazi troops enter the Rhine and saw Hitler at that time which occurred simultaneously with one of the major elections when the chancellor rolled up a 99 percentage in his favor.

Berlin, according to Miss Darrow's views, is fully as up to date as New York, except there are no skyscrapers, and those in Manhattan are half empty. The German capital is clean, modern in apartment houses, the use of public utilities such as electric lights and telephones, and other conveniences of living.

Relating her day at the Olympics, Miss Darrow told an amusing in-

GEOGHAN DENIES CHARGES AT REMOVAL HEARING

District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan (right) of Kings county, shown as he left his hotel for the hearing, denied charges that he was incompetent, negligent or an associate of notorious persons in a removal hearing before Gov. stance that occurred at least five times. Policemen on special duty speaking English asked her if she read about Germany in the American press, and when she answered in the affirmative they begged her to believe that the stories were not true and that the fatherland was a much better place than described by American correspondents. All Germans speaking foreign languages were given a two week holiday during the Olympic games to assist foreigners who were visiting.

"In Germany and Italy," Miss Darrow commented, "there is hardly any unemployment, and the people seemed contented."

Miss Darrow will be here with her family for several weeks before making any plans for the fall and winter.

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Bullish forces put their shoulders to the stock market wheel today and gave prices a forward shove for fractions to four or more points.

Brokers said generally bright business and industrial news stimulated the rally.

Rails, steels, motors and specialties led the recovery move which carried a number of equities into new high ground for the past year or longer.

The late tone was strong. Transfers approximated 1,100,000 shares.

Prominent share performers of the upside included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, C. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Vanadium, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Ward Baking, Preferred, Mesta Machine, du Pont, American Can and Westinghouse.

On a fairly firm foundation were United Aircraft, North American, American Water Works, McIntyre Porcupine, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Commercial Credit, General Electric, Goodyear, Anaconda, Twin City, Rapid Transit, Studebaker, Warner Bros., and Pure Oil.

Many Visitors at Camp Happyland

A very full week is playing its part at Camp Happyland, beginning on Sunday when nearly 200 people visited camp and the children during the afternoon. The girls gave the nicest kind of play, entitled, "A Day at Camp Happyland." Because of heavy skies the play was given in the new recreation hall which is built just for that sort of program with stage, benches, etc.

Following the play James F. Loughran, the camp chairman, was called upon to speak to the parents and friends in behalf of the Christmas Seals Committee. He reminded the parents of the value of the good habits learned by the children and urged that the good work be carried on in the home as nearly as possible, for if follow up is not carried into the life of the child the demonstration is of no value, the work of the Ulster County Committee of Tuberculosis and Public Health is useless.

Monday night moving pictures were given to the girls by Mr. Loughran. The picture taken of Camp Happyland activities two years ago was received with much enthusiasm but four funny reels were just the kind of pictures that 48 children can make a lot of noise about. Then their host treated to lolly-pops, an exciting party.

Wednesday is Rotary Club day at camp, a luncheon of picnic style served in the recreation house tastes good even to grown up business men and then to be greeted by many happy girls who are anxious to tell all they learned is a little change from the hard headed business methods.

Friday evening ends the round of parties when the Christmas Seals Committee will be entertained by the kiddies. At this time the pennant will be awarded to the winning team who have received the least number of demerits during the month. Double ice cream also awaits the best team.

Sunday parents and friends will come to camp to take to their homes 48 children who have already gained 183 pounds of weight through good food, rest, fresh air, sunshine and many lessons learned for body and soul.

An Affecting Story of

Richard II and Isabella

One of the most affecting stories of royal romance in history is that of Richard II and his eight-year-old queen, Isabella of Valois, daughter of Charles VI of France. When an impressive English embassy waited on the little princess to ask her hand for their king the Earl Marshall, falling to his knees, said:

"Madam, if it please God, you shall be our lady and our queen." She replied instantly and frankly: "Sir, if it please God, and my lord father, that I be Queen of England, I shall be well pleased thereat, for I have been told that I shall then be a great lady." The ambassadors were delighted with her answer and predicted she "would be a lady of high honor and worth."

Richard crossed to France with his courtiers, recounts a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, and after days of noble feasting and knightly pageantry with the French king and nobles, the marriage took place in Calais. The king then took his child-bride to London, where she was warmly welcomed and showered with rich gifts and is said to have been crowned at Westminster with great magnificence. Richard dined at Windsor, with many tutors and governesses to care for her every want, and his chief thought was to make her happy. The days he was able to spend with her were her most joyous, for then she could play at hide-and-seek with him in the great castle corridors or ride with him in the forest. The happiness soon faded, however, for after her idyllic Richard sailed away to put down an Irish revolt she never saw him again. A widow at eleven, she was herself made a prisoner by Henry of Bolingbroke, and it was only after many threats that her father, the French king, finally got the pathetic and now penniless little queen safely back to his court.

One of the Queen Mary's books, 7th foot long, would stand by 20 feet the 1924 of the Westminster 1914 Insurance building in New York city, not many years ago the tallest building in the world.

New York ranks first of the 48 states in manufacturing.

DIPLOMATS IRKED BY ODD REQUESTS

Americans Have Queer Ideas About Envoys' Duties

Rome.—Americans of the home-grown variety have strange ideas of the reasons why Uncle Sam maintains his diplomatic and consular missions abroad—and nothing exemplifies them better than the strange requests that pour in to the United States' foreign representatives.

Stamp collectors, autograph collectors, school children with themes to write, curio hunters—and even large and well established corporations—jam the foreign mails weekly with odd and frequently quite illegal demands.

And while America's consular and diplomatic representatives do their best to help the taxpayer at home, at least half the time they are stumped.

Rome, with its vast historic background, is perhaps one of the principally-pestered spots.

"I am writing a theme on Roman history. Please send me all the details of ancient Rome buildings still standing there," is the kind of letter, signed by High School John or Annie, that has long since ceased to cause surprise when it turns up in the office of Ambassador Long here.

"I am making a collection of geological specimens; please send me a sample of lava from Vesuvius," is one actually on record. But perhaps the record request was one received from an unnamed taxpayer, who asked "a photostatic copy of Julius Caesar's will."

Rome, of course, is not the only spot receiving strange requests. In Moscow demands from American citizens at home range from sets of Tzarist (stamps and Soviet propaganda pamphlets) to "a stone from the Moscow Cathedral, which I understand has been dynamited recently."

As Moscow, before the revolution, boasted some 1,500 churches and as all but thirty-odd have been destroyed, the request was impossible of fulfillment, even had funds been available.

To Use "Hush-Hush" Plane in Stratosphere Flight

London.—Great Britain is building a "Hush-hush" plane to fly higher and faster than has ever before been possible.

It will be ready this summer to make a dramatic bid for supremacy in stratosphere flight.

The builders of this plane realize that America, Germany, Soviet Russia and Belgium are all conducting experiments to produce planes to fly eight or ten miles above the earth, and that success means the capture of the world's air transport trade.

Britain's plane, the secrets of which are closely guarded by the air ministry, will, it is understood, be far superior to any stratosphere flying machine yet built. It is expected that this plane will be able to make a return trip to New York from London between breakfast and supper.

It will be of an enclosed cabin type with a variable pitch propeller and a supercharged engine.

Tube Proposed to Join Ireland With Britain

Belfast, Northern Ireland.—Engineers are making preliminary surveys for a scheme which, if realized, will see Northern Ireland and Britain joined by a tunnel.

Sponsor of the plan is William J. Stewart, member of the Ulster parliament, who has engaged men to carry out the exploratory work. He is confident their report will prove the feasibility of a tunnel.

His proposed bore would reach from the County Antrim coast of Northern Ireland to the Mull of Kintyre, on the Scottish coast, a distance of 13 miles. Its value as work relief is stressed. It also is urged that if a tunnel existed it would in time of war mean an assured food supply for Britain, regardless of how other means of communication were threatened.

"Necking" of '20s in 1936

Style Called "Smooching"

Des Moines, Iowa.—A new word is going the rounds of Iowa colleges to denote collegiate love-making.

Students' grandfathers probably "sparked," and mothers and fathers "spooned." In post-war college days it may have been "petting," a decade later it may have been "mugging." But now it's "smooching."

The word was coined on the Iowa State college campus and spread rapidly to Drake and other schools. At Drake the girls were a bit displeased with the new term for collegiate love. But the men believe it's time for a new term. And so it's "smooching" this spring.

Immigrant Year Old

Vancouver, B. C.—The world's youngest "immigrant" has just settled down in his new home here. He is one-year-old David Ian Bland. The child's mother died recently in Liverpool, England, and he was adopted by an uncle living in Vancouver. He made the journey alone.

Three Ethiopians are so slow to take in a new idea, that Mussolini himself had to go there and explain it to them that they're black.

Residents of Newfoundland say there are fewer lobsters there used to be this summer and can't explain it. Henry Wallace probably paid the fishermen to slow 'em under.

Drivers Arrest Each Other After Crash

Cars driven by Joseph Kennedy, 45, of Chicago, and Charles R. Mellus of Saugerties, collided near the gas station just above the railroad crossing on the Saugerties road Wednesday afternoon. Each driver preferred a charge of reckless driving against the other.

Troopers Reilly and Elliott learned that the accident happened when Kennedy pulled away from the gas station, heading toward Saugerties and the left rear of his car was struck by the Mellus car. Deputies Vredenburg and McCullough also made an investigation for the sheriff's office.

Arraigned before Justice Walter Webber of Lake Katrine the case was set down for a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock. Mellus was paroled in custody of his attorney, William D. Brinler and Kennedy furnished bail in the amount of $10 for his appearance.

POLITICS at Random

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

"POLITICS" is a broad term. The dictionaries list several meanings, having to do mostly with statecraft in general. Last on the list is the commonly-accepted American definition of activity within or on behalf of a political party.

The borderline of distinction is so vague that it often is hard to decide what is and what is not politics. In the restricted partisan sense, to the discussion of this point President Roosevelt recently has made some interesting contributions.

There is nothing political, says the President, about his tour of the drought zone. From his headquarters it is given out also that neither his foreign affairs speech at Chautauqua nor his forthcoming addresses at the Charlotte rally or before the world power conference will involve politics; that, in fact, he will make no political speeches until October.

Now it can be assumed that in making these statements Mr. Roosevelt and his spokesmen mean there is no political intent in these activities. But there is another, practical side to the matter.

It's The Effect That Counts

THE effect, not the intent, is what counts in politics. Elections are not decided on the basis of what the candidates intend.

The voting in November will be governed by the effect which various public acts and utterances have had on the electorate. And certainly none would contend that a series of speeches on public questions such as foreign relations and the power problem, delivered by a President who is a candidate for reelection, could be without political effect.

The proof of this is provided by two instances which already have followed promulgation of the "no-politics" formula. Both demonstrate that while the President may be master of his own intentions, he cannot always be certain whether the effect will be interpreted by others as political or non-political.

Early in August the President slipped out of Washington secretly for a visit with Maryland Democratic leaders at a country estate nearby. When the story leaked out, the White House issued a statement describing the occasion as "social." But Senator Radcliffe, in charge of the campaign in Maryland, spoke of it as a pep-meeting of the President's supporters.

At one of his press conferences Mr. Roosevelt declared there was no political intent behind the gathering he was to address at Charlotte, N.C., announcing the details at Charlotte, said the purpose was "to make the solid south more solid for Franklin Roosevelt."

A Political Effect Certain
TO SITE these incidents is not to say that Mr. Roosevelt stands convicted of anything. Manifestly, nothing was further from the intent of Senator Radcliffe or Mr. Robbins than to question the President's sincerity or candor.

Furthermore, there is not the slightest proof that Mr. Roosevelt would not make his western drought trip, and his speeches, if no campaign were in progress and if he had no intent of running for reelection.

What the situation does prove, however, is this: This being a campaign year, and Mr. Roosevelt being a candidate for reelection, his acts and speeches will have a political effect one way or the other, and will be regarded by a large section of the public as political. Nothing he can do will change that.

Lawyers Split on Roosevelt Policies

Boston, Aug. 27 (AP).—Members of the American Bar Association's special committee to study legislation affecting the rights of citizens split sharply today over their report on the policies of the Roosevelt administration.

In a report prepared for consideration by the association's annual convention as a whole, four majority members declared, "There is no indication that the (Roosevelt) administration recognizes any obligations whatever to protect the individual citizen in his constitutional rights."

The three majority members, however, recommended that the committee be discharged on the ground that they believed further consideration served "no useful purpose in giving citizens any helpful light on constitutional questions in addition to that already supplied by the opinions of the supreme court."

The minority asserted that because this was a presidential election year, further consideration would "result in embroiling the American Bar Association, whether willingly or not, in bitter partisan political discussion, and internal dissensions."

Majority members of the committee were John D. Clark of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Fred H. Davis of Tallahassee, Fla.; George L. Buel of Charleston, S. C.; and Charles P. Taft, 2nd, of Cincinnati, O., son of President William Howard Taft.

The minority members were Kenneth Wynne of New Haven, Conn.; Fred L. Williams and James G. McGowan.

De Bourbon in Hospital

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—Alfonso De Bourbon, Count of Covadonga and erstwhile heir to the Spanish throne, was reported resting comfortably today at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center where he was rushed last night after suffering a hemorrhage. Dr. Antonio Valenti and Dr. Louis Ruffolo of the hospital staff said the count was in no danger and that the hemorrhage was slight. The count was married in June, 1933, to Edelmira Sampedro Y Robato, daughter of a Cuban merchant, for whom he renounced his rights to the Spanish throne. Marital difficulties led to his filing a suit for annulment a few weeks ago, only to have his wife contest the action and demand $250,000 counsel fees in a counter suit.

Dem. Fortify Majority.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP).—Dissension and death have raised uncertainties in the senatorial situation in several important states, but the Democrats nevertheless are fortifying the majority which is certain to be theirs in the next session. As it stood today, with the renomination of Pat Harrison in Mississippi and James F. Byrnes in South Carolina, 55 certain to sit in January are listed Democrats. A majority is 49.

Taken Ill On Street

David S. George was taken suddenly ill on North Front street yesterday and was removed to his home, 47 Marlborough avenue by Officers Farrell and Cramer in one of the radio cars.

United States Insists On Freedom of the Seas

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP).—Insisting upon freedom of the seas for American shipping, the United States today notified the Spanish government it has no right to bar merchant vessels from rebel-controlled ports unless it can apply an effective blockade.

In a formal note dispatched to Madrid last night, Secretary Hull served notice that the mere action of the Spanish government in describing coastal territory held by rebels as a "war zone" was not sufficient under international law. To make such a "no admittance" sign binding, the secretary of state said in effect, the Spanish government must demonstrate its ability to enforce it.

"The United States, with the friendliest feelings toward the Spanish government, cannot admit the legality of any action on the part of the Spanish government in declaring such ports closed unless that government declares and maintains an effective blockade of such ports," the American note said.

In a verbal communication on August 20, the Spanish government notified the American embassy of the creation of the war zone and asked that American merchant vessels be warned in order that possible incidents might be avoided.

Secretary of War Dern Died Today

the second non-Mormon to reach the governor's chair of Utah.

The Utah governor met the then governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, at a governor's conference. When Roosevelt was elected it was reported he had Dern slated to become Secretary of the Interior, handling many of the west's problems. The Colorado river-Boulder Dam activity, however, was reported to have raised opposition from some senatorial quarters and Roosevelt compromised by naming the Utah governor Secretary of War.

Born in Dodge county, Nebraska, September 8, 1872, the son of John and Elizabeth D. Dern, he graduated from Fremont Normal College when only 16, then worked in freight and lumber yards to earn money with which to attend the University of Nebraska in 1893 and 1894. There he played guard and captained the football team which won one of the early championships of the Missouri Valley. Those being the days of push and pull football, brown was one of the chief requisites for gridiron performance and young Dern had it. He was just under six feet in height and usually weighed around 175 pounds.

In the university cadet corps Dern played an alto horn in the band. The commandant of the corps was Lieut. John J. Pershing and 40 years later the two were again associated when the amateur bandman became head of the department under which the retired general of the armies had won world-wide fame.

Dern cut short his university career to accompany his parents when they moved from Nebraska to Utah. There he got a job as bookkeeper with a mining company, studied technical aspects of the industry in his spare hours and eventually became the concern's general manager. In later years his business interests included mining, dairying, canning, power and banking.

In politics he made a mark as state senator for eight years, then served as many more as governor before going to Washington.

Hedricks Blank Kaslich, 5-0, Behind Brown's 4-Hit Pitching

The Hedrick Brewers chalked up their second successive victory in the city championship series against the Kaslich A C at the Athletic Field Wednesday evening when they blanked them by 5-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Joe Brown. The ace moundman of the Brewers had things all his own way and during the last four innings faced only 13 batters.

After scoring one run in the opening frame the winners staged a hard drive in the first of the fourth to push four runs across and put the game on ice. Mitchell went to second base on an error in the first and was scored by Kelder who hit a hard single to center.

The Brewers garnered 10 hits off Earl Evans, the Markersville flash, and got most of them in the fatal fourth when Ed Murphy started the ball rolling with a one-base hit. Komosa bunted to Evans who juggled the ball long enough for the hitter to reach first and for Murphy to advance to second. Quest bunted to advance both runners and Rider scored Murphy with a bunt that he beat out to first. Komosa counted with another run as Mitchell was tossed out at first. Gil Kelder then proceeded to get his second hit of the day which scored Rider and Brown for the third and fourth runs in that inning.

There was no more scoring for the remainder of the game but the Brewers threatened in the seventh when Kelder smacked his third hit and Francello followed it with a hard double to center field. Van Eiten fanned and Dykes grounded out to leave the runners stranded.

The second inning was the only time during the entire game that the Kaslichs came close to shoving a run across. With two down, Minislan, Chambers and Evans loaded the sacks. Ad Stumpf then hit a high fly to center for the last out.

The third game of the series will be played on Friday night. Leo Komosa and Johnny Burgevin will probably get the call for mound duty.

Uhle Will Coach Cornell Baseball During Fall Term

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The reorganization of Cornell athletics undertaken last September by James Lynch, new director of physical education and athletics, neared completion today with the announcement that George Uhle, battery coach of the Cleveland Indians, would take charge of the fall baseball practice for the month of October. Uhle has been loaned to the University for the fall baseball practice through the efforts of Alva Bradley, president of the Indians and a prominent Cornellian.

Nicholas Bawlf, who has been a coach of soccer, lacrosse and hockey at Cornell since 1920 was named by Lynch to succeed Howard Orner as supervisor of intramural sports for the academic year which begins on September 28. Bawlf will have the title Acting Supervisor of Intramural Sports and will combine his new duties with his regular coaching assignments.

No Crew Coach Yet

No progress was reported in the filling of the only remaining vacancy in the coaching staff, namely that of head coach of crew. It is understood that negotiations for the securing of Tom Boiles, freshman coach of the successful Washington Huskies, have not materialized, thus leaving the crew job wide open. No definite word has been forthcoming as to Cornell's plans regarding rowing. This sport is one of Cornell's traditional activities and the disposition is not to be rushed into a situation which will require change in a hurry. It has been intimated that in the failure to land a coach in time for fall practice, some outstanding oarsman of a by-gone day will be drafted to keep the sport going until cold weather sets in.

Preliminaries in Trapshoot Today

Vandalla, O., Aug. 27 (AP).—Trapshooting's greatest show—the Grand American Handicap—went into dress rehearsal today as the nation's premier marksmen staged a 100-target preliminary event built on the same lines as the classic which climaxes the 37th annual program on Friday.

Ray Zwerner of Bloomington, Minn., the defending preliminary champion, was on the firing line today, hoping to be the first to make it two in a row in the preliminary.

The national doubles title also was up for decision today. Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., is the defending champion in that event where two targets are tossed at once, and is the favorite to repeat.

He repeated Tuesday for the North American clay target championship, and yesterday broke 200 in a row from the 16-yard mark to take the National Class AA championship.

When asked about the story of her life and how she became a swimmer, Lucy said she couldn't remember when she first started to swim but she claims that she was swimming before she was walking or else her father must have treated her the same as she has seen him treat her younger brother.

The first thirteen years of her life in British Guiana were similar to those of most girls of her age except for her quick skill in every sport. At the age of 14 Lucy decided to see the world and set sail for Canada to live with one of her sisters in Canada she did her first competitive swimming and in her first marathon race she placed seventh, out-distancing swimmers who for years had been competing in such events.

A Total Abstemious.

"Are you ever troubled with cramps?" she was asked.

"I have never had a cramp in my life and once I stayed for over an hour in water which was only 42 degrees. When asked why she wasn't subjected to cramps, she replied, 'It is because I have never taken an alcoholic drink in my life.'"

Defends Court Crown

IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED...

AFTER SEVEN UNSUCCESSFUL BIDS, SHE FINALLY CAUGHT UP WITH THE WIMBLEDON CROWN THIS SUMMER

Miss Jacobs, still in a gay mood as the result of her victory at Wimbledon, goes about preparing for the defense of her national singles crown with a determination to make 1936 the greatest year of her career. The 4-time national champion is somewhat disappointed at Mrs. Helen Willis Moody's decision to pass up the nationals at Forest Hills but feels that there is certain to be plenty of talent on hand to make the competition interesting.

The California miss rates Kay Stammers of England and Marie Louis Horn of Germany as her most formidable rivals from abroad in the tournament beginning September 3, but expects most of her trouble to come from home talent. This includes Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Brooklyn, Mass., runner-up in the 1935 nationals, and Alice Marble, the Palm Springs, Calif., lass who has been staging a very successful comeback on eastern courts.

Miss Jacobs was at the peak of form and condition at Wimbledon. She competed sparingly this year after her illness in Vienna in May and wisely pointed for the big tests at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. Her entire game is up to standard, and if anything, her improved forehand has added a scoring punch to her attack. Most important of all to Miss Jacobs, as she seeks her fifth successive national crown, is the fact that she feels she has greater endurance than ever before.

Miss Jacobs loses Cup Matches.

After the Vienna illness, which kept her off the courts for a couple of weeks, Miss Jacobs was beaten by Kay Stammers in the Wightman cup matches. She lost to Dorothy Round in the same tests but later teamed with Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan to overcome Miss Stammers and Freda James in doubles. She took the Wimbledon championship after seven disappointments when she downed Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Germany, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

After the national tournament Miss Jacobs plans to return to California for a long rest.

One thing is certain. Miss Jacobs entertains no thoughts of turning professional. Not for the present, at least. She does not feel that the lure of gold is strong enough to compensate her for the loss of the many thrills which amateur competition affords.

Aside from Miss Jacobs' triumph at Wimbledon, American tennis does not fare especially well in the turf court championships of the world. According to some reports the weather conditions and the refusal to allow the girls to wear spikes militated against their success in the British tournament.

Thinks It's Her Year.

When asked about her chances of winning the three mile Lake Ontario grind, the attractive Lucy smiled and said, "This is going to be my year." She has been swimming marathon races ever since going to Canada from her native land eight years ago. In 1923 she swam the greatest marathon race of her career when she finished second in the 15-mile Century of Progress race held in Chicago.

When asked about the story of her life and how she became a swimmer, Lucy said she couldn't remember when she first started to swim but she claims that she was swimming before she was walking or else her father must have treated her the same as she has seen him treat her younger brother.

Can The Cubs Repeat? Is Question In Red Hot National League Race

(By The Associated Press)

Can the Cubs repeat? That's as big a question mark in the red-hot National League race today as the ability of the Giants to keep up their sizzling pace.

Back home from the most disastrous road trip of the campaign, the pennant holders are showing definite signs of snapping out of their doldrums.

The situation today is just about parallel to what it was last September 4 on that date, the Cubs were in third place, 2 1/2 games back of the league leading Cardinals and a half game away from the Giants. They started one of the greatest winning streaks in the book that day, took 21 straight games, and nailed the pennant to their mast.

Today they're in third place, 3 1/2 games off the Giants' pace and a game back of the crippled Cardinals. They've taken four straight now, winding up with a twin win over the Phillies yesterday, 4-2 and 7-4, to give them a record of five victories in their six starts since returning to Wrigley Field.

Before them are nine more games at home, including a four game series with the Giants next week. While they were advancing another notch up the comeback ladder with their double victory, the injury-ridden Cards took their third straight beating at the hands of the Bees, losing 10-3 to the seven-hit pitching of the veteran Guy Bush.

This setback boosted the Giants' pace-setting edge 2 1/2 games as they nosed out the Reds 6-5, with Carl Hubbell turning in his 19th pitching victory to stretch the winning streak of Bill Terry's galloping crew to 14 straight.

Sharing the headlines with the bitter National League warfare were these developments:

President Sam Breadon announced the re-signing of Frankie Frisch to pilot the Cardinals in 1937, a move apparently intended to have psychological effect in shaking the gas house gang out of its collapse.

Wes (Bad Boy) Ferrell returned to action for the Boston Red Sox for the first time since his suspension and $1,000 fine a week ago for walking off the diamond without orders. He limited the Tigers to five hits for a 7-0 triumph.

Rookie Eddie Wilson, freshman outfield star of the Dodgers, suffered a possible skull fracture when one of Mace Brown's slants hit him on the back of the head in the game with the Pirates. Despite the injury handicap, the Brooklyn batted the Bucs 10-3, for the second straight day.

Vernon Kennedy pitched a fourth game as the White Sox slugged the Athletics 6-3, with the aid of Zeke Bonura's two homers.

The lowly St. Louis Browns again took over the job of chief batter of the American League's leaders, the Yankees, by pushing four runs over in the fifth inning to sew up a 5-2 win.

"Singing Joe" Cascarella chalked up a five-hit pitching performance to give the Senators a 14-1 win over the second-place Cleveland Indians—the tribe's second straight loss to the Nats.

Western Women in Closer Golf Battle

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP).—The battle lines were drawn more closely in the women's western closed golf championship today with the only two former winners of the event against each other in the feature match.

On the basis of medal play in the qualifying and two match play rounds, Marion Miley, serious-faced 23-year-old defending champion from Lexington, Ky., appeared to have something of an edge on Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Elizabeth Dunn, long driving Indiana champion, yesterday lost Mrs. Hill two up at the turn and lost the match 2 and 1.

Two more of the early favorites—freckle-faced, irrepressible Patty Berg and Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis—also still were in the running as the field narrowed to the quarter finals.

The taxpayer of the next generation will know how to sympathize with the fellow whose wife goes through his trousers pockets every Saturday night.

A. A. A. SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Yesterday's Results.

Warren Smith's Colonials defeated Nick's Rascals in a fast game at Roosevelt Field by the score of 3-1. The game was a pitcher's duel between Craig of the Colonials and Hornbeck of the Rascals. By virtue of their victory and the defeats of the Aces and C. & R.'s the Colonials remain in the running for first place honors.

Pushing across a run in the last inning to break a 4-4 tie, A. D. Rose nosed out the Triangles at Hasbrouck Park by the score of 5-4. "Muscles" Balke and Port formed the winning battery while Parks and Bailey worked for the losers.

The Apple Knockers defeated the Altamari Aces by 4-1 at the Fair Grounds. The Aces outlived the winners by 7-5 but failed to make their hits count. Auduchinsky led the batting parade with a double and single for the winners while Mower and Dulin garnered two hits each for the Aces. Flemming and Rice were on the mound for the Knockers and Aces respectively.

A long home run by Vince Smedes with Herick on base, broke up the ball game in the last of the seventh with one out to give the Chevies a 2-0 shut out victory over the C. & R. softballers.

Ben Toffel on the mound for the winners restricted the losers to four well scattered singles while his teammates pounded Johnny Snyder for eight hits. The four batters clouted by Smedes was the only extra base hit of the game. Toffel was the only one to get a pair of hits.

Jim Geoghan and Tommy Maines shared the honors for the game. The Chevies travel to Ulster Landing to play against a vacationing softball outfit from New York city this evening.

Rookie Roy Weatherly Unhappy —Thinks He Should Bat 1.000

By BENNETT WOLFE

Cleveland (AP)—A little, tow-headed youngster came up from the land of cotton a few weeks ago, unheralded and unsung, for a chance at an outfield job with the Cleveland Indians.

Today that young man—the name is Roy Weatherly—is being hailed as Joe DiMaggio's rival for the prize-rookie-of-1936 title. In fact, many of the experts say the swarthy Yankee youngster already has lost the distinction to the schoolboyish Weatherly.

Weatherly, known to his teammates as "Little Stormy" because he's that way in a ball game, had a batting average close to .400 for his first few weeks in the American League.

You'd think a 21-year-old kid would be pretty well content with that pace.

But not Stormy Weatherly. He thinks he should hit 1.000. And the funny part about that is that he means it.

Scared? Not Weatherly

The Indians sent for Weatherly after Bruce Campbell was overtaken by his latest illness. They wanted to give Bruce a chance for complete recovery.

Beyond the fact that Weatherly had looked like a fine prospect in spring training with the New Orleans club and had achieved a creditable record in the Southern Association little was known of him.

ROY WEATHERLY

stable record in the Southern Association little was known of him.

Of course he would be scared and nervous, but maybe he would fill the bill after getting over his stage fright. So thought Manager Steve O'Neill.

Steve might have spared himself such worries.

Little Stormy socked Wes Ferrell of the Boston Red Sox for two triples and a single in his first game. He has continued the pace ever since. He hasn't been scared or nervous so far as anyone can tell.

It's All the Same

"The American League is no different to me from the Southern," he tells you. "The cities and the meal allowance may be bigger, but the pitchers throw the same kind of baseball. And I can still swing the same kind of bat."

Little Stormy gave an example recently of his refusal to be impressed by the big league. George Moriarty, the "tough-guy" umpire called a strike on him which the kid didn't like. Few freshmen players have dared to squawk at Moriarty because of his reputation for "breaking in" rookies severely so they won't cause future trouble.

But not Weatherly. He stepped from the box and told the umpire what he thought of that strike. Moriarty tried to stop him, but Weatherly's eloquence mounted. And not until he had got it all off his chest did he step back into the batter's box.

In the field Weatherly seems able to do anything DiMaggio can do, including throwing with uncanny accuracy. And on the bases he can do things the Yankee rookie can't approach, simply because he possesses more speed.

Lots of Action Promised Sunday In Legion Swim at Williams Lake

The swimming gala scheduled at Williams Lake for this Sunday afternoon and for which the Kingston American Legion has donated a trophy, promises to be full of action judging from the number and quality of entries already received.

The event excites most local interest is the 100 yard free style swim for men which is open only to residents of Ulster county. The Kingston American Legion, Post 150, is donating a perpetual trophy for this event and the winner's name will be inscribed on it year after year. The winner will receive a replica of the perpetual trophy for his personal possession.

Five Ulster county competitors have signed up for this race. Emilie Talcott, William R. Kraft, Jr., and Victor Miammay of Kingston, Urho Walnes of Binnewater and Charles Schneider of New Paltz are the favorites entered to date.

Prominent Entries

The marathon race, which will be held over a one and a half mile open water course, has drawn such famous entries as Bill Shermer, New Jersey's half mile champion and captain-elect of the Fordham University swimming team, Ray Mullane of the Flushing Y. M. C. A., metropolitan long distance swimming champion, and Robert Knapp of Flushing Y. M. C. A. Others entered in the marathon race are Morse Powell, Jr., of Newburgh, Victor Harris of Schenectady Y. M. C. A., Urho Walnes, William Kraft, Jr., and Victor Miammay of the Williams Lake Athletic Club.

For the invitation diving exhibition the local club has invited Leonard Carney of the Brooklyn Dragon Club, Metropolitan 10 foot springboard champion, Charles Schneider and Donald Whitbeck of the Williams Lake Club.

The Newburgh Swimming Club under the leadership of James "Fish" Maniscalco has not been heard from.

but it is expected that the Hilly City club will send a strong team.

Last A. A. U. Events

The events next Sunday will be the last sponsored by the local club to be sanctioned by the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. A few days ago the Williams Lake Athletic Club obtained direct affiliation with the Adirondack Association of the A. A. U. and this Saturday the club will send its first team to the district outdoor swimming championship to be held in Prospect Park pool, Troy, New York.

CHURCH SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Games Tonight.

The Fair Street Reformers and the Port Ewen softballers will clash tonight at Forsyth Park. Just what the outcome of this game might be is hard to guess because the lads from across the creek are fresh from a 7-0 shutout victory over the Comforters, while the uptown church team just defeated the Presbyterians 8-4. Clayton and Nolan are the likely pitching prospects. Game is scheduled to start promptly at 6.30 o'clock at the upper diamond in the park.

"Long Count" Harry Dead

Chicago, Aug. 27 (AP)—"Long Count" Dave Barry is dead. The famous referee of the second battle for the world's heavyweight title between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, fought in Soldier Field September 22, 1927, died last night in a hospital after a six weeks illness from a nervous breakdown and a liver ailment. He was 47. Barry gained fame because of his "14 count" in the seventh round of the memorable battle when Dempsey knocked Tunney sprawling. Barry admitted he counted 14 over Tunney because Dempsey refused to retire to a neutral corner after scoring the knockdown. As prescribed by the rules of Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Closi Clowns Play Brewers on Sunday

The Closi Clowns and the Stanton Brewers will meet in a return game at the Pan-Am Field on Sunday afternoon. The Clowns lost to the Brewers Tuesday night at the Athletic Field but were handicapped by the absence of their regular pitcher and several other players. The Stanton won by 7-0 but two of the runs were forced in by walks when one of the Closi infielders was pitching. On Sunday afternoon the regular Clowns lineup will be on hand and Manager Closi is confident that his boys will turn the tables on Jack Dodge and his Brewers.

Schwenk's Bakers To Play Napanoch

"Patient as a Camel"

The popular idea that a camel is a surly and stupid beast is wrong. The Arabs have a motto "Patient as a camel," for they know from experience that this animal never forgets either a benefit or a wrong according to a writer in Pearson's Weekly. A single act of kindness or injury may be ignored, but if this is repeated, he will be revenged one day. A camel bides his time. He waits until his enemy is alone with him, when he makes a sudden snatch with his mouth, or kicks him over and tramples on him.

Here is a new conundrum. What is the difference between a tomato on a fence and a candidate on a fence? The answer is that the cat makes a lot of noise.

"Iron Chancellor" Bitter In Interview

In two freight trains composed of 59 cars, all accompanied by 50 armed Germans.

"These Germans assembled the planes and tanks at Tablada Air-drome in Seville and handed them to the rebels; then joined Franco's foreign legion.

"I can prove all this just as I can prove the Kamerun landed its cargo of gasoline for the rebels at a Portuguese port after we had prevented it from reaching Cadiz.

"I also know the rebels received much more war material from Germany than they were able to pay for in cash down.

"The inference is clear Franco has sold his soul to the Germans, who one day will present the bill."

"Prieto was asked why the Spanish government had not referred its protests to the League of Nations.

"He replied, quietly: 'Ethiopia presented her case to the League. You know what happened.'

"I am afraid our Spain has become the Ethiopia of Europe."

"Single Leadership" By RAMON BLARDONY

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Madrid, Aug. 27.—Spain's Socialist government, consolidating positions on the far flung battlefields of civil war, mapped plans today for organizing the army under "single leadership."

Unity of action, subordinating local and minor victories by peasant and volunteer forces to general plans for concerted offensive, was sought by the government.

(Uncensored dispatches from Madrid have said dissension among army officers and the war ministry hampered vigorous assault against Fascist rebels. Apparently the plan announced today sought to overcome this difficulty and coordinate militia, regular army troops, rough garbed miners and peasants into a unified force.)

"It is better to have one single commanding leader," Indalecio Prieto, militia organizer, asserted. "No matter how bad he may be, than 20 bad staff men working without coordination."

The government's list of victories listed capture of the town of Ariza and Cubanas de Virtus in northern Burgos province, the death of 300 rebels and seizure of rifles, machine guns, and ammunition near Irua, bombardment of Ceuta and sinking of a rebel transport ship.

Check Rebel Advance

Hendaye, France, Aug. 27 (AP)—Government militiamen checked a Fascist rebel advance today on Irua and asserted they were victorious in the second day of furious fighting on the northern front.

Opposing armies were deadlocked without important changes in positions, but the rebels were halted far short of their objective which they had sought before being met with the government counter-attack.

Leaders of the government forces said rebels suffered "important" losses, leaving more than 200 dead on the field of battle while the militiamen counted only two dead and six wounded.

Victory at Oviedo also was announced by the government with the reported capture of a prison, a strategic point dominating much of the city, and a railroad station which had been held by rebels.

Government airplanes bombed rebel quarters during the night, it was revealed officially, but seizure of the prison was not confirmed.

White flags flying on buildings and in the streets of Oviedo were considered a sign the populace favored surrender to government forces to prevent further aerial assaults.

For many weeks miners loyal to the government have been bombarding Oviedo with dynamite and other improvised weapons.

Rexall Train to Be In City Tonight

The 12-car Rexall train hauled by a big streamlined locomotive will pull into Kingston today and lie on the siding on Greenkill avenue where it may be inspected by the general public from 7 to 10 o'clock. Aboard the train will be an interesting exhibit, including the five nursing nippies that served the Dionne quintuplets.

There are 330,000,000,000 feet of standing timber in the state of Washington.

The children who play in Rarman's Park of Greenkill avenue are indifferent over the fact that for two successive nights some men have entered the park and deliberately broken the children's merry-go-round. ## Supper and Scenery Pleased Crowd

The outdoor cafeteria supper held on the lawn at the Beatty Farm Wednesday evening by Clinton Chapter, O. E. S., was a fine success in every way. Over 200 people attended and enjoyed the fine supper prepared, which included sweet corn, steak and frankfurters, grilled over an open fire and a variety of other good things to eat. Service was at tables set on the lawn.

To those who had never before visited this fine homestead, with its old colonial stone house, well kept lawn, attractive rock garden and extensive flower gardens and handsome old trees, with a herd of fine cattle contentedly browsing in the nearby meadows, the scene presented was itself well worth "the price of admission."

What particularly caught the attention of one visitor, at least, were three large sycamore trees which stand close to the house and which from their size must have withstood the storms and baked in the sunshine of many long years. One of them particularly is of immense size. A member of the party that stood admiring it ventured the opinion that it must be at least six feet in diameter near the ground, and would come pretty close to carrying off the championship for big trees in this section.

Painting Fire House.

Painters in the employ of the WPA are now busy repainting the interior of the Central Fire Station. It is also planned to shortly do some interior painting in the city hall.
